Masseur convicted on battery charges

by THOMAS STEVENS
Lakeland Newspapers

An Antioch masseur, who had been arrested in connection with three separate but related battery cases, was convicted in a Lake County Circuit Court on July 8 on the first two counts of battery.

Bernard Metzel, 45, of 26387 Grapevine Ave., was to face a sentencing hearing on July 15, after press time, on two counts of battery of an insulting nature in the courtroom of Judge Michael Fritz.

The two day bench trial, in Judge Fritz's courtroom in the Waukegan Courthouse, allowed the testimony of all three women to prove the past history of Metzel's actions, said Assistant States Attorney Shawn Burke.

According to Burke, who prosecuted the case, the State will seek to have the two other cases factor into the sentence handed down by Judge Fritz and drop the other charges pending against Metzel.

'I'm disappointed with the outcome.'

Metzel had been charged with a total of six battery counts stemming from three separate cases of women who said Metzel touched them inappropriately during therapeutic massages at the Body Management Clinic in Antioch.

Antioch Police arrested Metzel first on March 3 for a Feb 25 incident and again on March 11 for a Feb. 21 incident. Then, on March 18, Metzel was arrested for the final time by Antioch Police after a woman came to the police to sign a battery complaint against Metzel in connection with a Sept. 1991 massage incident.

The accusers, all of whom have not been identified to the media, all claim Metzel inappropriately touched them on the breasts, buttocks and thigh area.

Metzel said after the trial, "I have not spoken with my lawyer yet, but I believe we will appeal. I'm disappointed with the outcome."

Metzel's attorney, Burton A. Gross in Chicago, did not return Lakeland Newspapers calls about the case.

Maxwell Street Days, Taste return July 23

by THOMAS STEVENS
Lakeland Newspapers

Just in time for summer's heat is the return of the Taste of Antioch and Maxwell Street Days to the downtown area on July 23-25.

Maxwell Street Days and the Taste of Antioch are sponsored by the Antioch Chamber of Commerce, the local merchants and restaurants and the Village of Antioch.

This year's Taste, according to Taste of Antioch Organizer Frank DiMarco, will be more entertaining and have more restaurants.

"People will get the chance to shop for bargains, be entertained and sample the best food Antioch has to offer," said DiMarco.

The Taste, which is held in the municipal parking lot on Toft Ave. under the water tower, will not only offer the food of 14 area restaurants but will feature a carnival, bingo, miniature golf and live entertainment.

The increased number of restaurants participating in this year's event will increase the variety of foods available. From ethnic treasures to pizza and ice cream, the Taste is set to please all who attend, said DiMarco.

Participating in this year's Taste are Antioch Pizza, Beanies Taco Town, Boardwalk Pub, D & G's LTD, Dairy

Queen, DiMarco's Family Restaurant, Hogans, Nolan's on the Lake, R Place on Lake Marie, Ron and Pat's Pizza Shack, Taco Bell, T.N.T.'s Place, World Famous Village Pub and Wunder Bar Restaurant.

"The Taste has given restaurants a chance to work together and get to know one another," said DiMarco.

In addition to the Taste, 15 local merchants will be participating in the Chamber's Maxwell Street Days, an Antioch tradition which attracts shoppers from all over the surrounding area who are looking for a bargain.

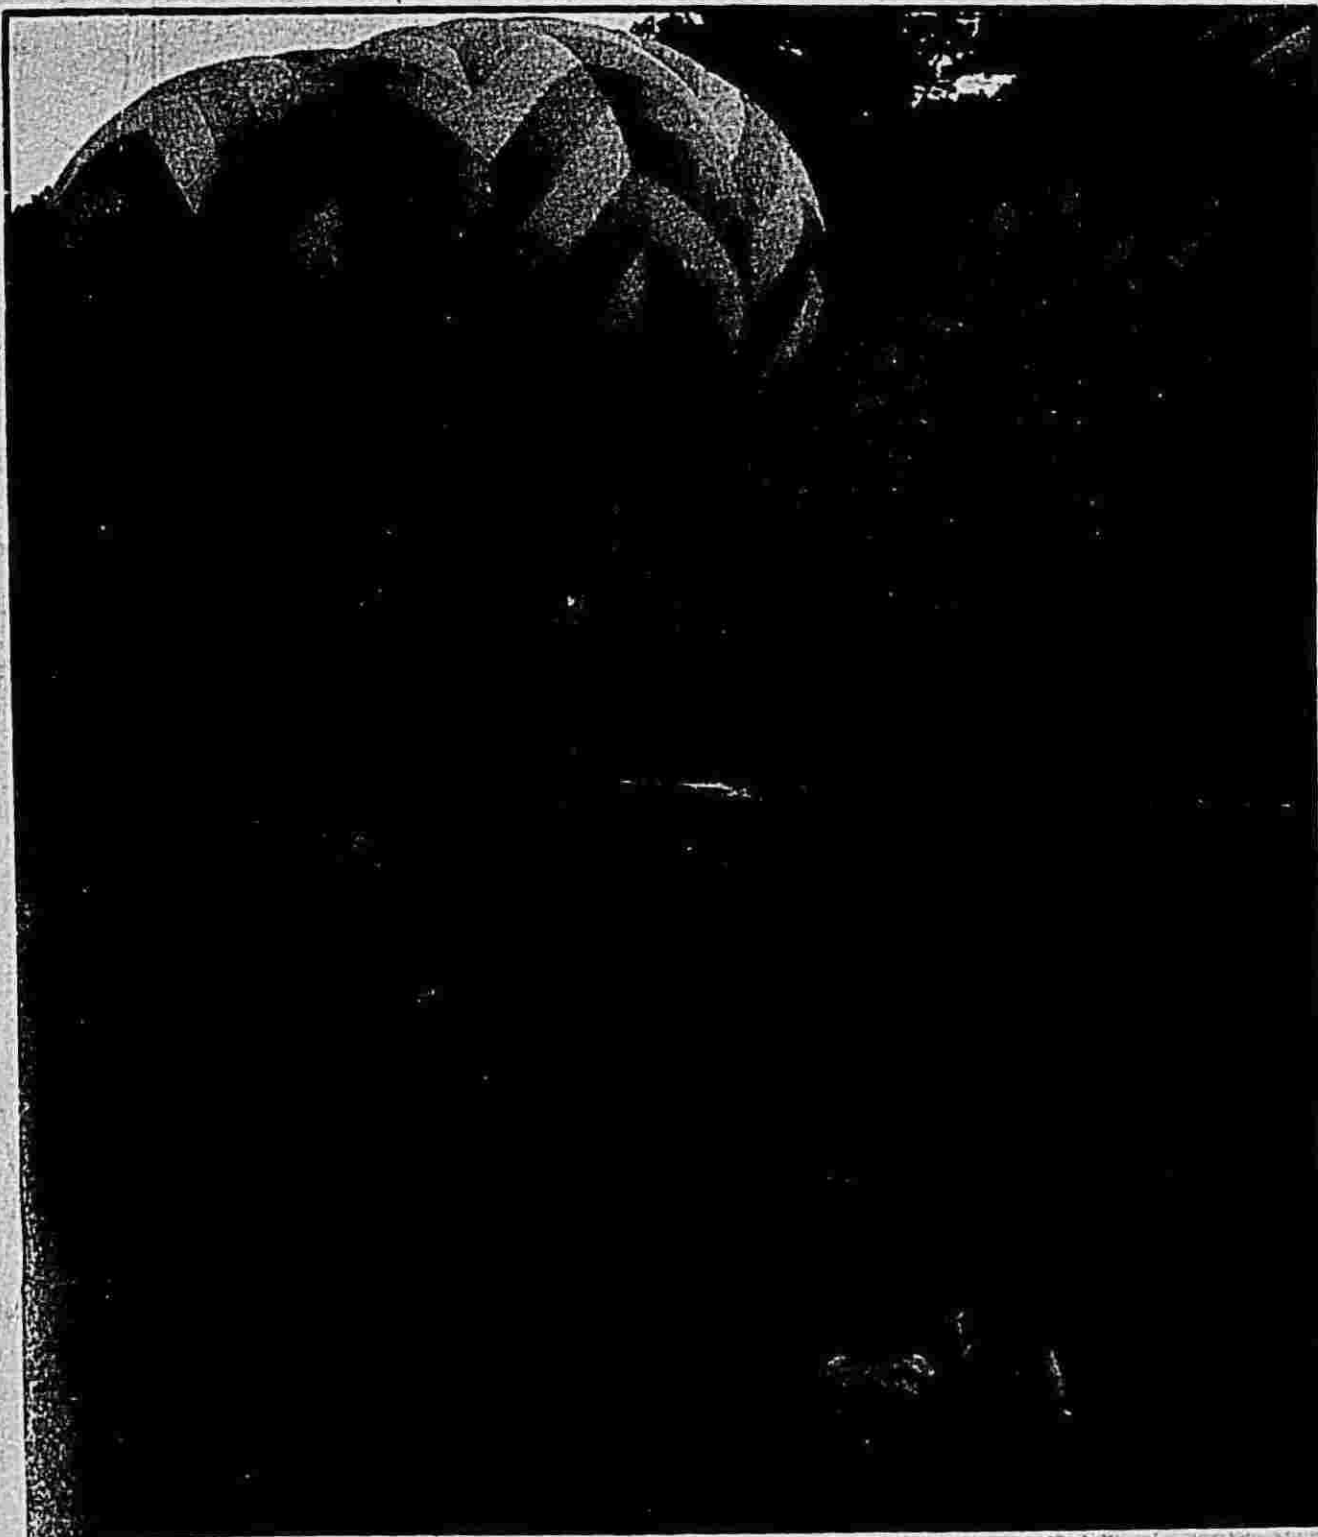

"Maxwell Street Days helps promote the community and the local businesses," said Retail Director of the Chamber of Commerce Flo Heiselman.

Maxwell Street Days traditionally is a clearance time for the Antioch merchants and low prices will not disappoint the frugal shopper.

Many of the merchants are offering items at 20 to 40 percent off regular prices.

New for this year's celebration is an increased focus on quality entertainment for everyone. Live music from country, rock and roll and rhythm and blues are scheduled for the three day festival.

Also included at this year's festival is a beer garden and wine sampling, courtesy of Armanetti Action Liquors in Antioch.

Masseur convicted of two battery counts

ANTIOCH—An Antioch masseur, who had been arrested in connection with three separate but related battery cases, was convicted in a Lake County Circuit Court on July 8 on the first two counts of battery. Bernard Metzel, 45, of 26387 Grapevine Ave., was to face a sentencing hearing on July 15, after press time, on two counts of battery of an insulting nature in the courtroom of Judge Michael Fritz. The two day bench trial allowed the testimony of all three women.

Schools chief to retire, teach college

LAKE FOREST—Oscar Bedrosian, superintendent of Lincolnshire-Prairie View Schools since 1974, announced he will retire at the end of next school year. Bedrosian, 61, wants to move on to other types of education by moving back to teaching college classes, as he had in the '60s and early '70s, he said in an interview Wednesday. "I want to go out and do a lot of other things in education before my permanent retirement," Bedrosian said.

During his 18 years as superintendent, Bedrosian said he witnessed a dramatic push for excellence. "The district has moved to a level of accepting very very high standards at the norm. And no one person can take credit for that," he said. "I leave 103 knowing full well that standards of excellence will never be compromised."

Bedrosian's announcement Monday was not a surprise, as Bedrosian had told District 103 School Board members in 1990 that his latest three-year contract would be his last. But Bedrosian's was the third in a series of superintendent stepdowns in the southeastern Lake County school districts. Bedrosian's peer, Hawthorn Elementary School District 73 head Tom Oakson, retired in June; and Bedrosian's former boss, Deerfield District 109 chief Charles Caruso, retired a year ago. All three were about the same age and had felt the wear of their offices, Bedrosian said. "It's not an eight-hour-a-day job, it's more like a 16- to 20-hour-a-day job," he said. "You go through 20, 25 years of this and it takes a toll. But it's a very rewarding toll."

Second bank hit by robbers in week

GURNEE—Gurnee and federal authorities are investigating a second Tuesday bank robbery within a week. A white female, age 30 to 40 dressed in a hot pink raincoat, entered Harris Bank at Rtes. 21 and 132 at 9:10 a.m. Tuesday. The woman, 5-9, 165 pounds, has some distinguishing marks including a white mole on a lower cheek. Gurnee Deputy Police Chief Hank Schwarz said the suspect displayed a small calibre revolver.

Sergeant suspended on sex charges

LINDENHURST—A Lindenhurst police sergeant was suspended by Police Chief Richard Jablonski after being charged with fondling a 15 year-old girl, while he was off-duty, in late June by Lake County Sheriffs Police. Andrew Jones, 27, according to Lt. Chester Iwan, surrendered on July 2 after being charged with misdemeanor battery after the girl told her mother that Jones allegedly touched her in the thigh while making advances towards her at an outing in Antioch. Jones is a four year member of the Lindenhurst Police Department.

Staci Wietrecki

Wietrecki honored by County Board

WAUKEGAN—The Lake County Board issued a proclamation recognizing Mundelein youth Staci Wietrecki for her many accomplishments that lead to her being named President George Bush's 811th Point of Light, June 25. The 20 County Board members present gave the 15-year-old Mundelein High School sophomore a standing ovation following the reading of the document. "I hope to start a community point of light," Wietrecki told the board members. The community point of light would recognize individuals throughout the county or the Mundelein area that make a difference in the daily lives of others.

Hearing delayed for sex-crime suspect

WAUKEGAN—Prosecutors have delayed an indictment hearing for a Mundelein man suspected in the kidnapping and attempted sexual assault of a woman behind a Vernon Hills shopping mall. Prosecutor George Strickland said new "elements" have arisen that may affect the indictment, tentatively rescheduled for July 22. But Strickland would not say what the items were or whether they could alter the charges against Mark A. Mahoney, 32, of Hickory Road, Mundelein. Mahoney was arrested June 26 in connection with aggravated kidnapping, attempted criminal sexual assault and armed violence. The incident allegedly took place during the morning rush hour of June 25. A man reportedly entered the car of a 21-year-old Chicago woman stopped at Route 60 and Milwaukee Avenue, leveled a small automatic gun at her, directing her to drive to the rear of a mall and attempted to sexually assault her.

County board to talk more courtrooms

WAUKEGAN—Lake County board members will meet July 24 to consider an architect's report regarding changing the former Lake County Jail to courtroom use. Sutter & Sutter of Libertyville has been awarded a contract by the county and was scheduled to update the board. The special call meeting will be at 1:30 p.m. at the Lake County Building.

Village pays smaller bill from U.S. EPA

FOX LAKE — The $12,852 paid by Fox Lake this week was a far cry from the original tab submitted by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency. The U.S. EPA originally sought to recoup $383,000 in what it determined to be ineligible costs in the building of the Fox Lake waste treatment plant in 1977. The village built the plant — on the same site as the current Northwest Region plant on Rollins Road — with $9 million in grants and loans. Approximately 75 percent of the money came in grants from the U.S. EPA. After an audit by the U.S. EPA, the governmental agency declared $383,000 of the money used was outside the limits of its regulations. A 1 1/2-year study and further audit by Rick Leber, Fox Lake water and sewer superintendent, and Don Roecker, an independent engineer, resulted in the vastly reduced bill.

Set your course for new Sail Inn's Italian cuisine

Tom and Dee Capparelli have brought their recipes for great food and satisfied customers to the Chain O' Lakes.

The Capparelli opened Sail Inn (formerly Andre's on the Bay) at 510 S. Park Ave. in Fox Lake July 3.

The Capparelli's reputation for the best in Italian and American fare precedes them. They owned and operated the enormously popular Ristorante Positano in Prospect Hts. for the last 6 1/2 years.

"We're hoping we get the same response as we had there," said Tom, a former Chicago policeman. "First-time customers turned into regulars. We were written up regularly in all the newspapers and magazines."

A big reason for their success has been chef John Herrera, and he's also made the move to Sail Inn.

While Italian food will be Sail Inn's bread and butter, delicious appetizers, seafood, steaks and sandwiches also will be prepared to please.

Tom said the freshness of the ingredients is paramount.

"We go with the freshest foods we can find and work them into the menu."

Sail Inn has seating for 120 people indoors and an equal amount on two decks outdoors. The banquet room accommodates up to 200 people for any special occasion.

Easily accessible by boat at Meyers Bay on Pistakee Lake, Sail Inn has 20 slips for boats up to 35 feet.

Tom said he and Dee, who live on Lake Linden, couldn't resist the chance to open a restaurant on the water.

"We love it on the water. We always wanted to be on the lake, so we moved up here."

Sail Inn is open Tuesday through Sunday from 11 a.m. until closing.

Navy wife 1st winner of Schroeder award

A 29-year-old aspiring journalist who combines full-time study at College of Lake County with homemaking for her Navy husband and three small children is the first recipient of the M.R. Schroeder/Lakeland Newspaper Journalism Scholarship.

Holly Aarhus of Great Lakes will receive full tuition, books and fees for her second year at CLC beginning this fall as the result of being selected winner of the scholarship established last year by Lydia M. Schroeder in memory of her late husband, founder of the 14-paper Lakeland group and prominent Lake County businessman for more than 50 years.

"This will cover all my education expenses except day care for the children," declared the native of Iowa after a brief presentation ceremony at the Grayslake campus.

Aarhus, whose husband, Larry, a petty officer first class attending CLC full-time to further his education in law enforcement, will take over as managing editor of the Chronicle this fall, CLC student newspaper.

Holly and Larry are in a tight contest to maintain a perfect 4. grade average. "He's a little ahead now," admitted the scholarship recipient who competed with a field of nominees selected by faculty members from the Communication Arts Division.

One of the reasons her GPA might have dipped a bit is that she has added part-time employment at a Waukegan discount store to her hectic schedule.

How does she fit everything in? Organization and determination. "We still have time for family fun," added Holly with a grin. Oldest of her three sons is 11. One of the boys is mentally handicapped.

Holly's desire to use her writing skills as an advocate for the handicapped is one of the attributes that caught the eyes of the panel of three judges. She was the unanimous choice for the scholarship that will be perpetuated with a gift Mrs. Schroeder made to the College of Lake County Foundation.

Jerry Pinkham of the Communications Arts Division who taught Holly news writing, describes the future journalist "as a natural. She's one of the four students I've had who has the natural writing talent and personal traits I feel are necessary for success in journalism."

"I have no doubt that Holly will be able to find a position in the newspaper field and be a success."

Both Holly and Larry plan on continuing their education at Drake University, DeMoines, Iowa, when he completes 10 years of active duty next year. Their hometown is Cedar Falls.

Holly comes from a literary family. Both her parents are teachers, her father specializing in English. She has a brother who is a sportswriter in Seattle, Wash. Another brother is a budding novelist.

In her essay requirement for the scholarship, Holly wrote that a "very personal reason" for going into journalism is to have an opportunity to educate the public about the needs and rights of handicapped people she has learned about first-hand from caring for her son, Sean.

William H. Schroeder, president and publisher of Lakeland Newspapers and eldest son of the founder, declared, "I can't think of a more worthy recipient than Holly. Her academic standing, professional goals and personal achievements have set a standard that is exactly what my family had in mind for helping a CLC student who is dedicating to advancing print journalism."

William H. Schroeder, president and publisher of Lakeland Newspapers, presents check covering full tuition, fees and books for second year to Holly Aarhus, first recipient of M.R. Schroeder/Lakeland Newspaper Journalism Scholarship at College of Lake County. Grant will enable Great Lakes resident to complete work for Associate of Arts degree next year. Attending presentation ceremony are Sandra Rodriguez, associate dean of the Communication Arts Division and Jerry Pinkham, CLC communication arts instructor.

Museum plans to salute progress of fire service

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

Lake County residents will be able to view some antique fire service equipment as the Wauconda Fire Dept. and Lake County Museum co-host a Firefighter

Awareness Day on Saturday, July 25.

The 10:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. program features rescue and equipment demonstrations by a variety of Lake County fire departments. The Fight for Life helicopter will appear, barring bad weather, from 10:30 to 11 a.m.

"We've had the most of the collection but it has not been exhibited yet. Most of the pieces are donations from the public or private citizens," Stacy Pyne, curator of education for the Museum, said.

The event is actually a revival of a similar event which took place several years ago, Wauconda Fire Chief Dave Dato said that event was successful.

On display will be a ladder truck, antique fire apparatus, Fox Lake Fire Dept.'s smoke safety house, antique emergency medical service equipment and Libertyville Fire Dept. will bring and old engine. The county's new below ground rescue team will also demonstrate its equipment. A fire pumper from 1910 and a fire extinguisher kit and a fireman's helmet from 1930 will be shown.

Schmehl gives thanks for Centennial parade effort

Parade

Where do I begin? Well, the Antioch Centennial/Fourth of July Parade was fantastic. I realize it was so terrific due to the combined efforts of many, many people. However, without a good leader to pull everyone and everything together so beautifully, it may not have turned out quite as wonderful. So Lizard's giant pat on the back must go to John Ruffin the "1992 Centennial Parade Chairman" for doing a super job making the parade one of the best this town has ever seen (at least during my life time).

Thanks, John, because of you Antioch's history was well represented and will be remembered in a very special manner for years to come. I can't tell you which part of the parade was my favorite as I enjoyed it in its entirety. People were lined up on both sides of Main Street from ACHS to North Avenue on down to Anita Street to the new Centennial Park. I have never witnessed such an enormous turnout to a town event. As in the past, I will now mention the faces in the crowd that were recognizable to me and my assistant reporters.

Please note this list is in alphabetical order by last names—Al, Alyssa, Angela Anderson, Dennis, Kenny Bergl, Jennifer Biel, Paula Bierren, John, Mary, Linda Boerman, Ray, Marie, Jenny, Rudy, Vivian, Don, Linda, Shelley, Jamie Brausam, Dave, Patti, Katrina Brooke, Mary Brown, Bugs Bunny, Doug, Heather, Angela, Jennifer Burke, Steve, Sandy, Cathy Chinn, Ryan, Renee Church, Steve, Stevie Colletti, Wayne Cramer, Debbie, Ashley, Kellie Davis, Ed, Amy Dembinski, Bob Diemer, Daffy Duck, Dan Dugenske, Barb, Alyssa(Beeper) Filips, Michaeline Freeman, Amandy, Lisa Gillies, Kathy, Amy, Sue Glenn, Jamie Gollon, Mike, Amanda, Barb, Kimberly Hain, Clara Haling, Ed, Janet, Blake Harrison, Mary(Field) Haviland, Ron Horton, Joe Hueber, John, Mary Jedele.

Old is Old

Which sounds older, 18,250 days, 50 years, or a half century old? No matter how you say it, that is the age of Darlene Olenick as of June 26, 1992. That means she was born in 1942—WOW, that's old! When Darlene arrived home from a family birthday dinner outing on the 26th, the lawn chairs were arranged (cover wagon style) around a beautiful campfire and many of her family and friends were on hand to wish her a surprise happy 50th.

The following people had a hand in making Darlene's 50th birthday a memorable milestone in her life. Gene and Joan Ward, Dave and Lorrie Teaters, John and Linda Boerman, Don and Judy Winkler, Cathy and Carl Dunfrund, Bob and Gloria Gambit, Ray and Marie Brausam, Ron, Cathy and Millie Morenz, Tommy and Donna Budz, Bob, Tricia, Deanna and Missy Olenick, Jim and Liz Schmehl, Chester and Alice Dykiel, Scott and Cindy Marquart, Warren and Cathy Regnier, Rick and Shahnaz Hansen, Fran Olenick, Karen Schmehl, Brian McGuire, Tommy Madden, Monica Mizsewski, Natalie Newcomb, Sandy the Dog and Kona the Dog. Forgive me if I left anyone out, folks, and one more time Happy Birthday Darlene Olenick.

Happy Birthday

As I sat reading Lakeland's pull-out section—"The One-Hundredth Year Commemorative Guide", honoring Antioch's Centennial birthday, I was left feeling the presence of special Antioch days gone by and special future Antioch days yet to be experienced. As I glanced over the reproduction of the ads from Antioch's past, I could almost imagine the dirt roads, general store, horse and buggies, Saturday night gatherings and topics of conversation from long ago.

I particularly enjoyed the articles of Mayor Wilton's roots and ancestors, the Emmons family photo, the beautiful Lotus beds on Grass Lake, the contributions of people such as Dolly Spiering and Homer LaPlant, etc.

As the old history and ads were intermingled with the present patron ads and pictures, I fully realized how closely Antioch's past is linked to the present and future of Antioch. The Centennial Playground and Centennial Parade are just two examples of how Antioch people of all ages and backgrounds pull together to get the job done.

In my opinion, Antioch is and hopefully will always remain a modern town with an old-fashioned, small-town flavor. Antioch has been celebrating its Centennial Birthday since February and plans to do so with many more fun activities up to and including the month of December. One more time "Happy Birthday, Antioch. You are truly a special town filled with special people".

Country Companies opens new office

Three Country Companies agents in the Grayslake Agency have announced the opening of their new offices at 906 Hillside, Antioch.

As agents for the Country Companies insurance group, Macek, Vendermeer, and Walczak are able to provide for all the insurance needs of their clients and area residents by offering Auto, Home, Farm, Life, Health, Disability Income and Commercial Insurance. According to Macek, the new office offers a more convenient downtown location for customers with more convenient downtown location for customers with more room for growth.

The new office features an advanced computer system that is linked directly to the Country Companies Home Offices in Bloomington. The computer system can provide rate comparisons for auto, home, life and health insurance to policyholders and prospective customers in minutes.

Police Beat

Persons charged with a crime are innocent until proven guilty in a court of law

ANTIOCH DWLS

Serina S. Steele, 21, of 42720 N. Hwy 83, was arrested and charged by Antioch Police for driving while license was suspended, no valid registration and operation of a uninsured vehicle. Steele, according to police reports, was stopped for having three people in the front seat of her two bucket seat car. A August 8 court date has been set at 10:30 in Fox Lake.

Firework poss.

Five area youths were arrested by Antioch Police on July 5 on charges of fireworks possession.

According to police reports, Matthew A. Johnson, 20, of 834 Hilldale, Jason J. Miedema, 19, of 22767 Logan Terr., Daniel W. Erber, 23, of 1715 E. Grand Ave., Lindenhurst, Dawn A. Johnson, 27, 38881 N. Park Ave., Lake Villa and an Antioch juvenile were caught by police, who were responding to a complaint by a neighbor, shooting off fireworks at 11:30 a.m. on Hilldale near Asbury.

Fireworks poss.

A 18 year-old Antioch

youth, who was stopped by the Antioch Police on a routine traffic stop, was arrested on July 4 on a fireworks possession charge after they fell out of his glove box when his passenger reached to get his proof of insurance card.

According to police reports, Kevin L. Kotwica, of 25730 Woodlawn, was stopped for having a loud muffler when police discovered the firecrackers.

DUI

An Antioch woman received a host of charges by the Antioch Police after she allegedly left the scene of an accident.

According to police reports, Rockita K. Sullivan, of 332 1/2 Depot St., left the scene of a traffic accident causing a police search for her car. Police later found Sullivan driving on Lake St. near Victoria when they stopped her. She received charges of driving while intoxicated, failure to yield, and leaving the scene of an accident. Sullivan's blood alcohol content, according to police, was .25 percent.

Reckless driving

Antioch Police, responding to a reckless driving charge on July 2, heard shots fired from a car they were looking for in connection with the report.

According to police reports, Erik T. Hubbard, of 39817 Crabtree Ln., and a juvenile were in a black Ford Mustang that matched the description of the reckless driving complaint. No weapons were found in the vehicle. Hubbard was charged with negligent driving.

LAKEVILLE

Resisting arrest

A Lake Villa couple, with their children in the car, allegedly resisted arrest during a traffic stop on July 14.

According to police reports, Andrew C. Feldman, 37, and Barbara J. Feldman, of 37741 Harding, began to argue with a police officer during a traffic stop on Cedar Ave. near Central Ave. and a fight ensued. After several minutes, both were subdued by back-up officers, who arrived on the scene shortly after the fight started. Andrew was charged with resisting arrest while Barbara received an obstructing a police officer charge against her.

Area youth saves sister from drowning after pier accident

Dale Tucker

by THOMAS STEVENS
Lakeland Newspapers

An Antioch youth saved his sister's life recently, after she almost drowned in Loon Lake after falling off a pier and striking her head against it.

Dale Tucker, 11, pulled Amber, 8, to safety after she slipped off of the pier,

"If he wouldn't have been there to save her, she probably would have drowned. After she hit her head, she really couldn't have screamed or anything."

—Diana Carroll

struck her head against it and received a severe gash on her bottom and side before she hit the water.

The Tucker's mom, Diana Carroll said, "If he wouldn't have been there to save her, she probably would have drowned. After she hit her head, she really couldn't have screamed or anything."

Amber was taken to Victory Lakes Hospital by a family friend, who was the youth's guardian for the day, and was released hours later with only a mild concussion and 40 stitches in her rear end.

"It was no big deal," said Dale. "I just got her out of the water."

Tucker belongs to Cub Scout Pack 191 Den 8 and is presently going to be recognized by the Pack for his actions, said Carroll.

"I've contacted the Northern Illinois Council and requested some type of award for Dale's actions, but none has come so far," said Carroll.

The Northern Illinois Council governs the Boy Scout and Cub Scout units in the Antioch area and gives special awards to members who exhibit heroic behavior.

"I just think he should be recognized," said Carroll.

Sequoit Harbor loses permit to improve site

by THOMAS STEVENS
Lakeland Newspapers

An almost silent 10 year battle between the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and the Sequoit Harbor Marina, Inc., erupted into a war of words on July 1 when the Corps revoked a harbor improvement permit that would have ended the soil erosion there.

Now, boat owners, who own boat slips at the marina, really don't know what to do and want some answers.

"We have been receiving calls all day on

'They were supposed to enhance the environment and build some canals. Revoking the permit was our last available option.'

—Keith Wozniak

this," said Sequoit Harbor's Engineer Phil Mole'. "That news article has really stirred some interest."

The article Mole' refers to is a July 13 Chicago Tribune article in the Lake County section which said that Sequoit Harbor would have to close down due to the elimination of the Corps permit.

"That article is so far from the truth," said Mole'. "The marina is open and will continue to operate in the future."

Possibly, the confusion came from a press release issued by the Corps' Public Affairs office which stated that the Corps "ordered the removal of all structures and fill materials within 30 days."

The release continued by stating, "Sequoit is ordered to remove boat dock and piers, seawalls, and substantial quantities of dredged and fill material discharged in the waters of the U.S. All waters, including wetlands, are to be restored to their former condition. Failure to comply with the restoration order may include administrative penalties, civil or criminal penalties, or fines and injunctive relief."

The reality of that statement, according to Mole', is that the harbor must remove any item that the marina installed during the permit, which became effective in 1983.

"The harbor will not lose the majority of their boat slips due to the fact that most of the slips have been there for 20-25 years," said Mole'.

Mole' said that their plan to improve the harbor would have made the harbor safer and would have ended the soil erosion which is presently occurring on Sequoit Creek.

In a letter dated July 8, addressed to the Corps, Mole' said, "I was both surprised and disappointed of the decision to revoke the permit in as much as I believe an honest, sincere and diligent on-going effort was initiated to conclude this project to a mutual successful conclusion."

Mole' also indicated that his engineering firm, Sun Eco Systems, Inc., had contacted the Corps several times during the months preceding the permit being pulled.

"I was totally shocked when they pulled the permit," said Mole'. "We need to build that seawall to stop the erosion of the creek. We have lost a lot of shoreline."

However, the story from the Army Corps of Engineers is somewhat different but just as interesting.

"Sequoit has had a long history of non-compliance since 1983," said Chief of Enforcement and Compliance Keith Wozniak. "They were supposed to enhance the environment and build some canals. Revoking the permit was our last available option."

According to Wozniak, the plan presented by Mole', on behalf of Sequoit Harbor President Robert Smith, was a "plan for a plan" and was insufficient due to the time the harbor has spent in non-compliance of the permit.

"The harbor must either come up with a plan in the next 30 days, or remove any structures built since 1983," said Wozniak.

The original permit, granted to the harbor in 1983, was designed to restore a more natural surrounding for wildlife living near the harbor and measures were to be taken to ensure proper wetland mitigation.

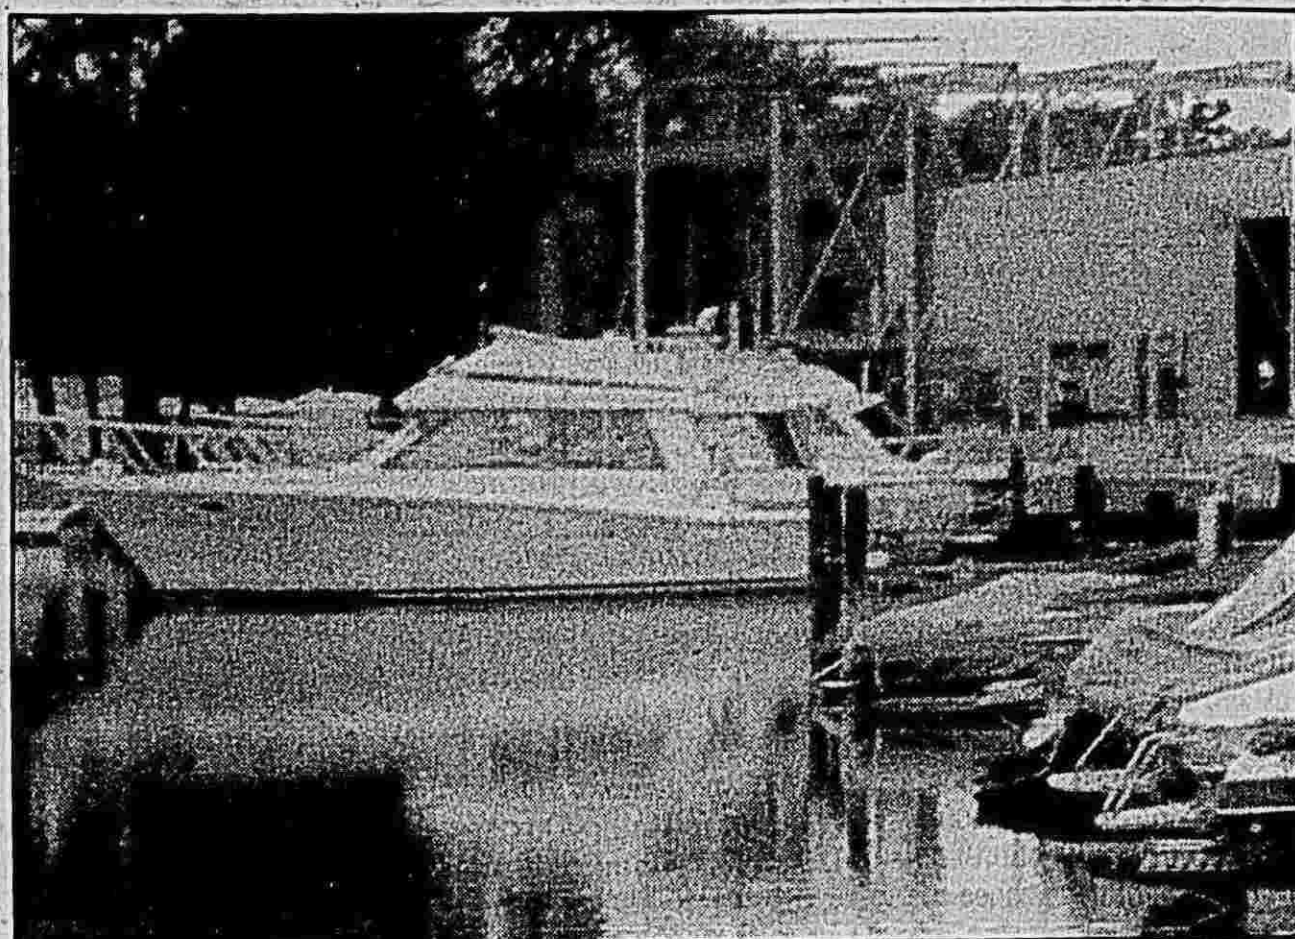

Wozniak said these measures have not been met and that is the reasoning behind the Corps revoking of the permit.

"I have determined that it is in the public interest to revoke the permit," said Lt. Col. Randall R. Inouye, the Army Corps of Engineers, Chicago district commander when he revoked the permit.

As for now, the harbor remains open, despite severe soil erosion on the Sequoit Creek and a possible long litigation process ahead for both sides of the issue.

"We thought our generic plan would be enough for the Corps to give us some feedback and continue the process," said Mole'. "We really need to get those improvements started but we cannot do anything without the Corps permit and approval."

Responded Wozniak, "This is not a closed subject by any means. If they can come up with a plan within the 30-day time limit, a possible agreement could be reached."

Open for business?

Despite the loss of the Army Corps of Engineers improvement permit on July 1, Sequoit Harbor remains open as a opening to the Chain O' Lakes.—Photo by Thomas Stevens.

Critique of Fox Lake Pageant

Good morning. I watched the Antioch Beauty Pageant on cable last night and I thought that it was run very well. Now, I am going back Fox Lake and I am wondering why that wasn't televised. I like the pageant. But, after the sports wear, swimsuit and evening gown competition, they had each one of the girls come out and they had to give a little talk about Fox Lake. I think they all gave the same length, one was pretty short. There was one young lady that talked about the town and the schools and the teachers. Then they told them that it was a tie. So these poor kids had to wait off stage. Finally they decided instead of bringing out three girls they would bring out four. Each girl had to walk to the judges and then stand there. It had to be 15 to 20 minutes that they just stood there with the judges looking at them. I have no complaints about the girl that was chosen queen, but the I can't believe the way they choose. I give all the girls a lot of credit. It takes a lot of nerve to do that. But, I think that they should run the pageant more smooth and a little more fair. Thank you.

Help for the needy

Hi, I am calling about the Catholic Charities in Waukegan. They claim to serve and help all people despite economic backgrounds. My experience with them has taught me otherwise. As a single mother and a welfare recipient, I am living day to day trying to make ends meet and raise healthy, respectful, educated kids. I have been lucky enough to have family and friends that love, care, and give us all the emotional support one could ask for in a life time. When it came to Catholic Charities, the case workers were cold, rude and demeaning to the needy. I have done without luxuries to pay bills and keep a warm roof over my kids' heads. Only twice have I had to call upon the charity that I have donated to many times. The first was in December, a couple of years ago. The temperature was near zero and I asked for a winter coat for my child who was standing in the lobby with a windbreaker on. I was told that I wasn't needy enough and to come back for an evaluation at the end of February. I receive the maximum from welfare every month. Just how needy do you have to be? I was recently turned down for help with my electric bill because I am not working. But, you get turned down for the same thing because you are working. Just exactly what do you do, Catholic Charities?

Point received

I am sick and tired of seeing the picketers in front of Welton's County Market. They made their point, so move on. I happen to like Welton's and will continue to shop there union or no union. If Welton's employees are happy, who are you to interfere? Gurnee.

DUI must be priority

I was completely disgusted to read in the local paper that Grayslake Mayor Smith does not feel that DUI are not a high priority in his village. He feels that the burglary problems that they have been experiencing lately are more important. How many people do you know that have been killed by burglars, Mayor Smith? Did you know that in the state of Illinois that someone is killed in an alcohol related crash every 24 minutes? I understand that arresting and processing drunk drivers takes up officer's time, almost two hours. Maybe if some officers decided to take some time, my brother wouldn't be dead. Neither would my next-door neighbor. Or two of my girlfriends. They all lost their life to drunk drivers. Let's get our priorities straight, Mayor Smith. Burglars take things, drunks take lives.

Mundelein not kept well

Hi, along route 83 and 45, taking 83 westbound from there, the state really needs to do a clean-up. There is a lot of grass, high grass, to cut up. It sure would be nice if they would take care of it. Also the K-mart in Wheeling is like a car dealership. Every weekend there is a bunch of cars out on 60 for sale. It would be nice if the village of Mundelein would take care of their village a little better. Thank you for this opportunity. Bye-bye.

Thank you from the queen

My daughter just won the Miss Antioch Pageant the other night and I just wanted to thank all of the businesses from Miss Antioch, Christy Clark and Little Miss Antioch, Kari Hintz. Thank you to all the businesses for their support and contributions.

Face without a name

Okay, on page 10 of the July 3 issue, you have a picture of the Antioch Centennial Celebration and the dedication.

You have three people pictured and you name some of the people, but you don't name what looks to me like Father Hanley from St. Peter's Church. Why didn't you mention his name? I think that it is terrible. I'm just reporting it. Thank you that's my gripe.

Round Lake area visitors pleased

Hello. I just wanted to say a couple of things about your area. First, my family is from Pennsylvania and we had the pleasure of visiting relatives in Round Lake Park over the Fourth of July weekend. The Round Lake area is very beautiful and you should strive to keep it that way. Second, we watched the Fourth of July parade and were surprised that no one stood at attention when the American Flag passed by. Shame, shame, shame! Third, we read in the pages of your newspaper that there was controversy about the queen of the Round Lake area. At first, we agreed that the contest must have been rigged. But, after meeting Queen Jennifer at the fireworks display on the Fourth, we changed our minds. She was very pleasant. She took the time to pass out flags to my kids. Thanks to Round Lake Park for a great vacation.

Soothing the suburbs

Chicago could revitalize itself economically and ease suburban fear of being trampled into oblivion from urban flight by reconstituting itself as the "City that Works." Land and demand is abundantly available to supply the jobs politicians so fervently pursue in plans for a Lake Calumet Airport or an off-Loop mega-casino.

The latest issue of Chicago Enterprise, published by the civic committee of the Commercial Club of Chicago, chronicles the success of SunGate Park on the West Side, a state-created enterprise zone that already has 48 companies leasing space. In the wake of SunGate Park success is a study showing there is sufficient demand for space to produce up to 150,000 jobs if Chicago would upgrade its infrastructure and identify industrial park sites.

Writer R. Bruce Dold emphasized that such a project would result in more jobs than the third airport and the casino complex. Even a modest development plan with $13 million in seed money would generate $111 million in tax revenue and more than 13,000 jobs, according to the Commercial Club report.

Why, then, all the furor over another airport and the casino? Could be that airports and casinos are decidedly more sexy than industrial parks. Airports and casinos also are decidedly more productive in patronage jobs and political clout. Up to now, glamor has been winning over good sense.

Dold cannily underscores the best thing about industrial park development. Chicago could go ahead with industrial parks without all the political maneuvering and posturing required to gain the support of suburban and downstate politicians as required by the airport and casino propositions.

This realization could be the reason for Mayor Richard M. Daley's surprise trashing of the airport plan rather than all the political intrigue being conjured up by some of Chicago's media moguls who are in a deep snit over the fact that the Lake Calumet Airport appears to be dead.

In such a scenario, Mayor Daley could well be one of the best friends of the suburbs. New Chicago industrial parks will become factory magnets and job machines. New workers can find employment in the city and live in the suburbs—just like the old days.

Daley the savior of suburban lifestyle in Lake County and other collar counties, as far-fetched as it sounds, could come to pass if the mayor is as serious about jobs as he says. In this case, truth would be stranger than the fiction being spewed about by the casino and third airport promoters.

Townships challenged

What started out as pre-election jousting for the 1993 campaign in Grant Township rapidly is escalating into a thorough examination of the value and purpose of township government. The Grant exercise in grassroots politics could have far-reaching implications.

Two township trustees challenged long-time Supervisor Alberta "Bertie" Miller over what they claim was her disavowal of a budgetary formulation pledge to hold salary increases for the 1992-93 fiscal year to a modest three percent. Miller supporters both in and out of the township governmental apparatus fired back with charges of their own that complaining trustees are recipients of a compensation package that can best be described as generous.

Revelations that the four trustees are paid $495 a month for two short business meetings and receive a $2,700 annual group health insurance policy amount to, "What are you guys complaining about?" It's not surprising that three of the four trustees expressed second thoughts about the free insurance now that the political air is heating up.

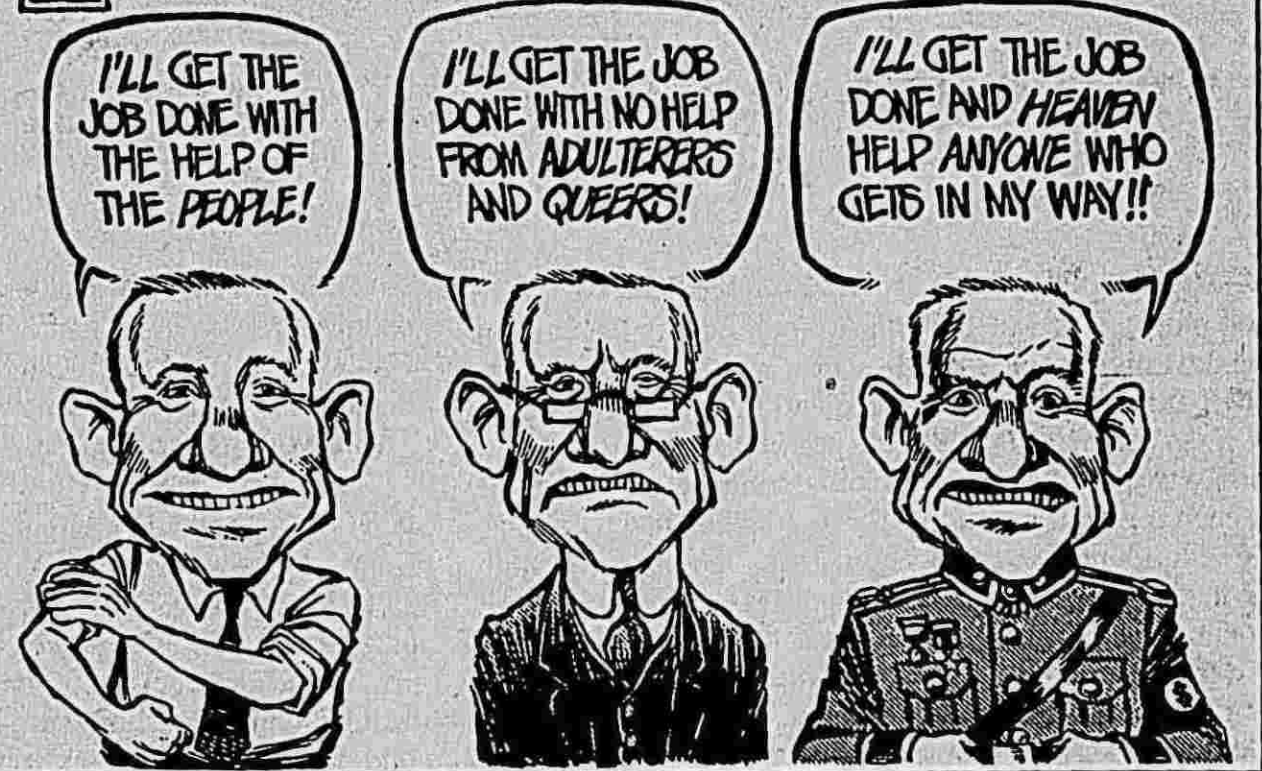

In this free-swinging atmosphere, taxpayers in one of the county's poorer townships can be expected to demand what in the world is going on with their township government? For starters, voters undoubtedly will want to know just exactly what Miller does to justify an annual salary of $43,510.

Governmental reformists are quick to pounce on anything that puts the system of township government in a bad light with renewed effort to abolish the township system. The gyrations of former Supervisor Mike Graham in Libertyville Township had critics howling for the scalp of the township system until voters inserted businessman Ralph Swank Jr. into the supervisor's chair. Now they will be poised to pounce again with the growing squabble in Grant Township which contains one of Lake County's largest unincorporated sectors besides a good bit of the Chain O' Lakes.

Supervisor Miller, one of the best paid supervisors in the county, and her detractors need to close ranks to make a case for township government besides protecting their own political futures. Flames of controversy are being fanned and they undoubtedly will glow brighter before turning into embers of understanding.

ACT scores conspiracy

Editor:

I wonder what is so terrible on those ACT scores from Antioch Community High School to go through such a coverup?

Attached are documents proving a conspiracy to hide ACT scores for ACHS for years 1971-72 through 1982-83. All my sources were silenced at the Illinois

State Board of Education when I asked "when ACHS went on the financial watch list and what was the total of anticipation warrants issued by ACHS?"

Previous to that four separate letters were sent to Regional Supt. Edward J. Gonwa. No acknowledgement has been received. Then I was told by ACHS Supt. Gary Allen to send $50 to ACT which sent back my $50, saying they were prohibited from releasing those ACT scores to an individual.

Helping depression

Editor:

I read with concern your report on deaths in Lake County. The increase in suicide is alarming.

Suicide often arises from clinical depression which in turn is often precipitated by a traumatic event. Clinical depression is often described as being in a "black hole." Clinical depression can be helped. There are ample public and private resources available.

Only a project for Schaumburg: inventing past

by BILL SCHROEDER

Schaumburg, a place a great many Lake County residents love to hate, is a village in search of a past it doesn't have.

The ultimate of modern suburbia, Schaumburg is in the process of creating a "downtown" on Schaumburg Rd. near Roselle Rd. because officials have found it necessary to provide "local history" so residents can anchor to a past that never existed.

Frankly, we don't envy the folks trying to invent a past where there is none. What will they define as history? Tattered blueprints for the first high rise? Old song sheets from the one-time cowboy entertainer who "invented" the village that now contains in excess of 10 million square feet of office space and block upon block of industrial parks?

If the glitzy steel and glass community has any identity at all is that of a 90's "Edge City," a sociologist's term to describe spots around the U.S. now containing six figure populations that didn't exist a quarter of a century ago.

Maybe that's the secret charm of Lake County. (Note, I didn't refer to Lake, as a certain metro journal is wont to do these days with teeth-grinding frequency). With the exception of Vernon Hills, every community in, ahem, Lake County, has its own history, a beautiful, gold plated, certified, genuine, embossed past that residents can turn to an exclaim, "This is the way it used to be." About a century worth of past, give or take a few years.

Yes, Virginia, there was something here before strip malls, town homes, cookie-cutter subdivisions and gridlock. How marvelous to look back, how wonderful to reflect.

Poor Schaumburg, more to be pitied than scorned. I'm wondering if we've got enough "history" to share with the much maligned product of the modern developer's imagination in northwest Cook County? Excuse me, Northwest Cook! Maybe an old washboard? Perhaps a tarnished spittoon? A wrinkled fender from a Model T? An old petticoat per chance? Possibly a pitted plowshare or some old Mason jars?

Whatever, I'm sure the arbiters of Schaumburg history will put the gifts to good use. Remember, history isn't history unless it happened a long time ago. Or is preserved at the intersection of two six-lane highways in the shadow of canyons of brick and mortar.

FAST MONEY---Eddie O'Grady, the retired saloonkeeper who enjoys watching the passing scene these days and sometimes offers comments on what he sees and hears, passed along some sage consumer advice: A fast and easy way of making money is comparison shopping.

O'Grady called this column to relate how his son's car broke down in Waukegan where a diagnosis showed that brake work and exhaust system repairs would cost $878.92. A second opinion was obtained at a Round Lake area repair shop where a $480 estimate for the same work was obtained. Guess who got the job? "And the final bill was only $441," O'Grady related. That's easy money.

Scout dilemma issue of your pocketbook

by BILL ZIMMERMAN

"On my honor I will do my best: To do my duty to God and my country,"

—from the Scout Oath.

That has been part of the Scout Oath since the Boy Scouts of America was chartered by Congress in June 1916.

Now, all of a sudden, according to news reports, the United Way finds God objectionable and threatens to withdraw its financial support of the Boy Scouts if they do not eliminate God from the Scout Oath. Besides, they object to the Boy

Commentary

Scout's refusal to extend membership to homosexuals.

At the risk of oversimplifying the differences between the United Way and the Boy Scouts, it seems that the United Way opposes God and favors homosexuality while the Boy Scouts favor God and oppose homosexuality.

This may appear to be a serious problem. It really isn't (remember, it's your money they're talking about).

The solution is so simple it hardly seems a problem at all. Just discontinue contributions to the United Way and give directly to the Boy Scouts or any other charitable or service organization you prefer to support. Thus, your hard-earned cash will go to work where you most desire.

According to the World Almanac, at least 80 to 85 percent of our citizens believe in God. If we stick with Him and share our good fortune with the Boy Scouts and needy, directly, we won't have much need for the United Way.

If you can, the best way to help is by getting involved personally.

(Editor's note: Bill Zimmerman is a retired businessman who writes on public issues. He resides in Gurnee).

Letters

(Continued from preceding page) never contributed a penny to any of my campaigns, my first thought was he was set up by someone and should have checked his news source more closely. In all candor, it is absurd as linking me politically to Jack Martin or Pat Connors. I understand our political system and realize it is always open season on public office holders. Because I am no longer an elected office holder, I am somewhat surprised I still rank attention.

However, the part that angered me was associating my late mother with such an outrageous story. My mother was Anna Rudd Graham who passed away Nov. 3, 1991 at the age of 97. The Grahams and Rudds have been respected families in Lake County since 1834. I have never heard of the family which Soulak refers in his article.

Davis has contributed to many political campaigns in Lake County, and suspect that list would be a revealing story. (County Board members, other County office holders, and municipal officials but never to my campaigns.) This is a simple fact which Soulak could easily have checked out.

Newspapers have great influence and along with it comes an equally heavy responsibility and obligation to be reasonably accurate.

Barbaric treatment

Editor:

The Round Lake Water and Sewer Dept. has a very dry welcome for newcomers to the area. Twice, without any warning, my water has been turned off. The first time was because I wasn't aware that a $100 deposit (non-refundable until the house is sold again) is required.

The scenario: a man pulled up in a large truck, my dog barked and I looked out my bare front window to see a man with a stick adjust the metal thing in my drive, he was looking me straight in the eye as he did it. I had no idea of what he was doing.

The second time I arrived home from work at 11:15 p.m. to find I was without water again. Since it was so late I couldn't ask neighbors if they were without water too. Three animals needed water as did my day-old sod in the front yard, to say nothing of my shower, shampoo, tooth brushing and much needed coffee before going to the office the next morning. Although they had my $100 deposit, without any previous notification or warning, the Round Lake Water and Sewer Dept. turned off my water again because the previous owner had not paid his water bill.

This lack of notification is barbaric and hazardous to one's physical and mental health. What can be done to have civilized procedures set up?

Police get heat for enforcing law

POLICE ON HOT SEAT

Lindenhurst police have something in common with Hainesville police. Both are under fire from a village trustee.

Hainesville, which long ago shed its image as a speed trap, regained some notoriety this spring. Trustee Gerald DeBryne says Chief Robert Koop's men are again harassing motorists, mostly truckers.

Mayor George Benjamin says the department is only doing its job. "What is a violation in Hainesville would be illegal elsewhere in Illinois," he said.

In Lindenhurst kids are the supposed target. They are being followed, stopped for small violations and non-violations, if you believe Trustee Wilma Wetzel. Chief Richard Jablonski says his men are just doing their job. He gave commendations to several last month for traffic stops that led to big time arrests.

Like his Hainesville counterpart, Mayor Paul Baumunk thinks the department is doing a great job.

APOLOGIES TO MIKE

An apology is owed F.T. "Mike" Graham of Libertyville. A item last week linked him to the Rev. J.R. Davis, the Waukegan pastor found guilty of sexually assaulting two teen-age boys.

"This is a man I never met and who has never contributed a penny to any of my campaigns," Graham wrote. "It's as absurd as linking me politically to Jack Martin or Pat Connors (two Libertyville Twp. foes).

"L.R. Davis has contributed to many political campaigns in Lake County," the letter continued. "I suspect the list would make a revealing story."

The part that really angered Graham linked his late mother to the story. She owned property near the Davis farmette. It is now held in trust. "My mother was Anna Rudd Graham, who passed away on Nov. 3, 1991, at the age of 97," he wrote. "The Grahams and Rudds have been respected families in Lake County since 1834."

To which I heartily agree. A retraction is made and, again, apologies extended.

LAUGHING AT US

We won't have Charolette Kiesgen to kick around any longer.

The County Board member from Ingleside resigned this week. Board Chairman Robert Depke said it was because of her personal problems. "Char" spent the past year or so changing husbands.

Despite missing more meetings than she attended, "Char" continued drawing a $1,900 monthly ($23,000 per year) paycheck. "She smiled all the way to the bank," one critic remarked.

Despite paying for representation the Fox Lake area wasn't getting, taxpayers didn't seem to care. "If that same person was filling potholes for the county you better believe there would be a hue and cry," said board member Larry Leafblad of Highland Lake.

Now, taxpayers won't have to shell out another half year's salary to put gas in her new, red sports car.

Betting is that Fox Lake druggist Ed Fojtik will be appointed to serve until the end of the year. He is the Republican candidate for the job in the November election.

This, of course, will make him the incumbent. Which will make it tough for the Democratic hopeful in this district, Beth Geuzendam of Wauconda.

to find that it wasn't possible? But, you can still make a difference. Each and every one who takes time to help or donates food, etc, can make a collective difference for the suffering here and in the world. The caller who called in the July 3 issue was right on target. We need to get involved in anything that we can do to help the less fortunate. I, myself, cannot stand the thought of children being hungry or cold. If everyone would donate time or money on a regular basis, what ever they can do. We can make a difference. The media should be involved. The media makes money off of reporting sad news, how about helping to eliminate it? So, how about it? Can we get this started and have everyone give a little? Even if it is just helping a neighbor, or someone you know who needs some money. Please take a stand now. Thank you.

No trash here

I think that your paper has been very lucky that it hasn't been sued when you print the kind of trash without any proof to back it up.

Water in Mundelein

Yes, I am calling from Mundelein and I just read about the person that complained about the double increase in the Mundelein water. This person was saying that the elderly cannot afford a double water increase. Well, it is not just the elderly. It is the younger people just starting out and they can't afford this. I am tired of the elderly saying they can't afford things when we can't either. We don't get discounts like the senior citizens do.

What is tent about?

I just moved here yesterday and I went to the store and saw a copy of the Vernon Hills News. I thought that if I bought the paper, I would find out what is going on in the area. Well, I spent my 50 cents and there was nothing in the paper about Vernon Hills the week after the Fourth of July. Maybe I missed it, or what? I was hoping to find out what was going on in that big tent but I didn't find out. Too bad. I guess I won't be going because I don't know what time or when. Thanks.

Quit whining and do something!

We have become a nation of whiners. I mean I am reading this stuff in the paper, whining about this complaining about this. Don't you people have anything better to do with your time? I should have something better to do with my time. This is ridiculous. Quit griping and get off your butts and do something about this! What happened to the strong silent types that didn't complain so much? Thank you.

Yuppies destroying path

This is Mundelein. First of all Fascination, thank you for the poem. And to the people who complained about the beauty pageant, somebody should have stood up and yelled foul! Nothing is going to happen until you do. Write to the state. As far as new business goes, I am upset about the Moraine State Park. It is a beautiful place with a lot of rare animals and plants. Well, the stewardship is being violated. The yuppie bicyclists are taking the turns at high speed and ruining the paths. They are destroying over a dozen trees and making a waste land. It has turned into management. They are losing a lot of water. Route the water from the creek. Make it accessible to wheel chairs. Get the $1,000 bike off and let the slower paced enjoy. The management is excluding people that the park was made for. Write the people in power and tell them that you want something done about the park. Thank you for listening. I am not a good writer so this is the perfect opportunity for me to leave my words and let you do the writing for me. Thanks.

Don't lose pet

Any pet owner that has been irresponsible enough to have lost two dogs does not deserve to have her dogs returned to them. Take better care of them, next time, and don't lose them in the first place.

Little League champs

This call is from Libertyville. I would like to point out the Little League scores. Dr. Kemon's team is the AA championships this week. Our condolences to WXLG who played very well. And congratulations to the little boys who won.

Local coverage commended

Yes, I have been reading the Antioch News Reporter for 26 years. Unlike some of the other callers, I would like to commend Lakeland on a fine job that they do for giving total news coverage. This week, alone, I have counted some 20 odd articles about Antioch and the people of Antioch. Granted some of the other articles are about the happening of the towns around Antioch. I like those articles, because I always like to know what is happening in the neighboring areas. Keep up the great work, Lakeland. In the past I have subscribed to both the News-Sun and the Tribune, but never renewed my subscription. This special, informative paper by Lakeland is enough for me. Thank you.

Police reports accusing

I have got two things to say. First of all you guys have a bad habit of accusing people in your police beats by the way that you write things. The way that you phrase things assumes that they are guilty, despite your little disclaimer at the beginning. The second thing is although you print every little crime that occurs in the county, you never print the results. I am sure that a lot of people are found not guilty and that part is never reported. Thank you for my opinion.

Stoplight needed

I just think that there should be a stop light at the corner of 120 and Fairfield Road and 60 and Fairfield Road. I think that it is very needed and very important. Thank you.

Fines into pocket, not fair

So what is with Hainesville?! Every Barney Fife in that town is trying to find a speeder that goes two miles an hour over the speed limit. I'm sorry to be laughing. But this is a laughable situation, but not really. This is not funny. When they pull you over and then pull out their wallets and put the $50 cash in their wallets, you have to question it. You have to say, "Humm... where is that $50 going?" Am I really going to have a court date? Not! I think that there are thousands of you out there. Stand up and talk to them because this has to stop. I was going two miles over when it goes from 45 to 40 in under two seconds. We put on our breaks, but it is too late. Hainesville cops, don't you have something better to do? Thank you. But, Hainesville, get a life. I am from Round Lake.

Critique of welfare system

Hi, I have something to say about the welfare system. With the political campaigns going on, we are putting down people on public aid and welfare. Well, I just want to inform you that I am on public aid and I am not proud of it. My husband works very hard and there is just no getting ahead with it. As soon as you start getting ahead, (Continued on page 27)

Stained glass: not just for churches anymore

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

For some, the medium may be a once-in-a-lifetime experience.

Travel to a church in a far-away town, a church more than 10-years-old, and one can guarantee seeing stained glass windows as a major feature. Some even have the names of the families who donated them.

In today's home industry, the image of stained glass has become more common and a Lindenhurst couple is at the forefront of that.

Skip and Brenda Koesling own "Glass of a Different Color," a firm which they run out of a shed in their backyard.

"The stereotype of stained glass is the look of a church," Brenda Koesling said. Barb started in the field 15 years ago. "I started as a hobby. We used to live next door to a master glass maker who had a studio in Evanston," she added.

Glass of a Different Color has done 25 panels of a Gurnee home, two to three entryway sets a week and more.

"You learn new things almost every day," Skip said.

Skip is the newcomer to the business. He began when a Libertyville firm he worked for shut down last year.

Visitors can't help but notice a large Pelican at the back of the shed which serves as an office. That piece took some 60 hours to make.

Barb took a liking to the painstaking process, one which requires a lot of patience. For the last 10 years, she has been passing on her skills to classes in stained glass at the College of Lake County in Grayslake and has been selling her work since 1983.

Starting the hobby is not inexpensive.

Tools cost $100 to $175 depending on the size of the project. Glass is one-third of the cost, the rest is labor.

"It is a time-consuming, exact process. We've had people who were biochemists, Ph. D.'s., carpenters, electricians take the class," Brenda said.

The biggest hurdle for those in the beginners class — an advanced class is also offered — is the fear. But Barb has come up with a nearly full-proof way of handling that.

"The scariest thing is cutting the glass," Brenda said.

The course is 1.5 credit hours and has a class limit of 12.

Commercial clients include Laura's Flowers Shop in Lake Villa, Ben Franklin store in Lindenhurst, Affordable Art in Long Grove, Ace Hardware in Fox Lake and shops in Wisconsin.

The couple is familiar with both the antique style, referring to the texture of the glass and the machine rolled glass. "Machine rolled glass is similar in quality, but less than half the cost," Brenda said.

The firm also repairs glass. Ordering the exact size to replace a piece can be a long wait — the wait continues for a piece ordered in May. Glass is protected better from the ever-present danger of flying footballs and baseballs as sections and frames are reinforced.

"Everywhere I go, I look at the kinds of glass they use," Brenda said.

The Koeslings are assisted by Audrey Murphy of Round Lake. Glass of a Different Color is looking to expand, possibly to a Gurnee location.

Hours are: Monday through Thursday, 3 to 7 p.m. for walk-ins; Friday, 3 to 6 p.m. and Saturday, 9 a.m. to noon. For more information, call (708) 356-5510.

Skip and Brenda Koesling show off a Pelican made of stained glass. The Koeslings operate "Glass of a Different Color" out of their Lindenhurst home. Brenda teaches classes in stained glass at the College of Lake County.

Gurnee firm opens offices in Japan, Malaysia

Jerry Martin Associates, a Gurnee, public relations and marketing agency specializing in the marine industry, has announced the establishment of two offices in the Pacific Basin. One is in Tokyo, Japan, the other in Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia.

Martin, president of the firm said, "The U.S. pleasure boating industry is definitely becoming internationally oriented. Recreational boating is second nature to many families in Europe and North America, but it just beginning to emerge in countries around the Pacific Basin. Many U.S. firms are making plans to get a share of these developing markets."

The new office in Malaysia will be headed by Col. (R) Harbans Singh, a native Malaysian. The Tokyo office will be administered in conjunction with the Nishida Tekko Corporation, a major Japanese firm in the development of new marinas in that country.

Laws passed several years ago in Japan dictate the construction of close to 300 new marinas in Japan by the year 2000.

In Malaysia, pleasure boating is just starting as a family recreational pursuit. The country is a peninsula and islands, with beautiful beaches and crystal clear water. The government is stable and they are rapidly becoming known as the manufacturing for the Pacific Rim.

Jerry Martin Associates also has an office in Rotterdam, Netherlands and provides publicity and marketing services for marine-oriented companies in Europe.

The retirement time bomb

by NICK J. BROWN

So you've been frugal, saved money, set up a retirement plan and now you and your wife are planning a comfortable retirement. Not so fast!

Two out of every five people over the age of 65 will wind up in a nursing home. Up to 40 percent of people over 65 will require substantial professional care in their own homes.

The unknown costs of nursing home care or professional health care are ruining retirement for many couples today.

Being frugal during your working life and saving for retirement in pension plans, profit sharing plans, IRAs and personal savings can all be wiped out by the fact that only one spouse may be required to enter a nursing home which today costs a minimum of $2,000 to $3,000 per month.

The most efficient way to protect your retirement savings and lifestyle from this very real risk, is to purchase nursing home and extended care insurance. There are numerous plans available today. It is important to get professional help in choosing the best plan.

These insurance plans are one of two types. They are either reimbursement plans, which reimburse you for the daily costs of a nursing home or a straight

Quality varies

The quality of the com-

This Way to Wealth

panies offering these plans vary. The company can be very stable and sound to doubtful and ill advised.

You should first do some real work in analyzing the companies you are considering, choosing only those with excellent financial credentials. Once you have made that decision, you need to choose the structure of the coverage with the provisions that are appropriate for your needs and ones that you can afford.

Most of these policies start paying benefits after a waiting period from 0 days to 90 days, after you have lost the ability to perform a certain number of activities of daily living. This provision is the trigger which will start the benefits flowing.

Your professional insurance advisor should suggest several companies to choose from and furnish you with the A.M. BEST, Standard & Poor's, Moody's and Duff & Phelps ratings of the companies he is recommending.

Since this coverage will need to stay in force for many years, it must be purchased from a company that will remain solvent and strong for years to come. An important peg in your retirement and lifestyle planning is to get a program of nursing home and in-home care which will allow you and your spouse to enjoy the assets you have built up for retirement. By doing this you can try to guarantee that you will enjoy those retirement years which have been proven so golden for the people who have had their assets eaten up by nursing home costs.

A man who would be King

*Elvis is alive—
thanks to apostles
like county man*

I get a call from the receptionist. There's a dead guy here to see me.

"Elvis is here in the lobby," Maureen says. She sounds a little spooked. "He says he wants to talk to you."

As I walk toward the lobby, I see a flash of sideburn from around the corner. I hear someone mumbling something in a drawl, politely.

There he is. Leather jacket. Thick-heeled cowboy boots. His gargantuan shirt collar lays across his shoulders like pterodactyl wings, the shirt unbuttoned to the solar plexus.

He turns to me. His eyes are concealed by his bulky, rose-tinted sunglasses. Air molecules scatter in the wake of his plush, deep-pile sideburns. He adjusts his massive leather belt, wide as a piano bench and jingling with thin chains.

In my head, I hear a rockabilly bass start thumpin' out a Tupelo tempo.

"Who are you?" I ask the man. "And why are you pretending you're a singer who died 15 years ago?"

He tells me two things right away: One, Elvis is dead; and two, his name is Bob.

"I believe," says Bob, "that Elvis Presley is—" he pauses, shrugs his eyebrows, "—dead and gone."

Bob is Robert Bradshaw. He's 37 and lives in Round Lake. On stage, they call him "Elvis Bobby."

"He had gotten hooked by drugs and he was very down at the last period of his life," says Bradshaw. He speaks without Elvis' twang but with a similar sort of deferential tone and downcast gaze. "The odds of him coming out of that would have been a tremendous miracle of God."

If Elvis weren't really dead, there wouldn't be much need for what people like Bob Bradshaw do—that is, everything possible to dress, look, talk, walk, sing and dance like the King. These are the apostles of Elvis.

In early July, Bradshaw joined hundreds of other Elvis look-alikes in Las Vegas for a convention marking the 15th anniversary of Presley's death. Bradshaw himself was given a "showcase" performance slot and a chance to address the hundreds of assembled Kingheads. Locally, Bradshaw last performed in the Avon Township Youth Baseball League's Fourth of July parade in the Round Lake area. He has been a repeat guest on WKRS-AM's Dave Allen talk show.

Bradshaw is not Lake County's only Elvis. Dave "E the Legend" Ehlert of Gurnee has for many years been known as one of the greatest of the Elvis wanna-bes.

The Elvis impersonator's mission, as Bradshaw describes it, is to keep alive not the King himself but the excitement that Elvis created as a performer.

Bradshaw was a lifetime fan of Elvis, but it was three years that he decided to let his sideburns grow out and put together a King act.

"I was trying to get my life together at the time, to really take the bull by the horns and take a hold of some goals and dreams," Bradshaw says. "I was always awed with the influence that (Presley) had. He demanded a powerful attention from people, and he definitely got it, with his tremendous looks and all his artistic ability."

Bradshaw began studying videotapes to replicate the King's dance steps, his mannerisms and gestures, even between-song chatter. It's difficult to find time, between working full-time at Culligan water systems in Northbrook and part-time at a car wash in Round Lake Beach.

Bradshaw admits one of the pluses of acting like someone else is that it lets him forget about who he really is for a while.

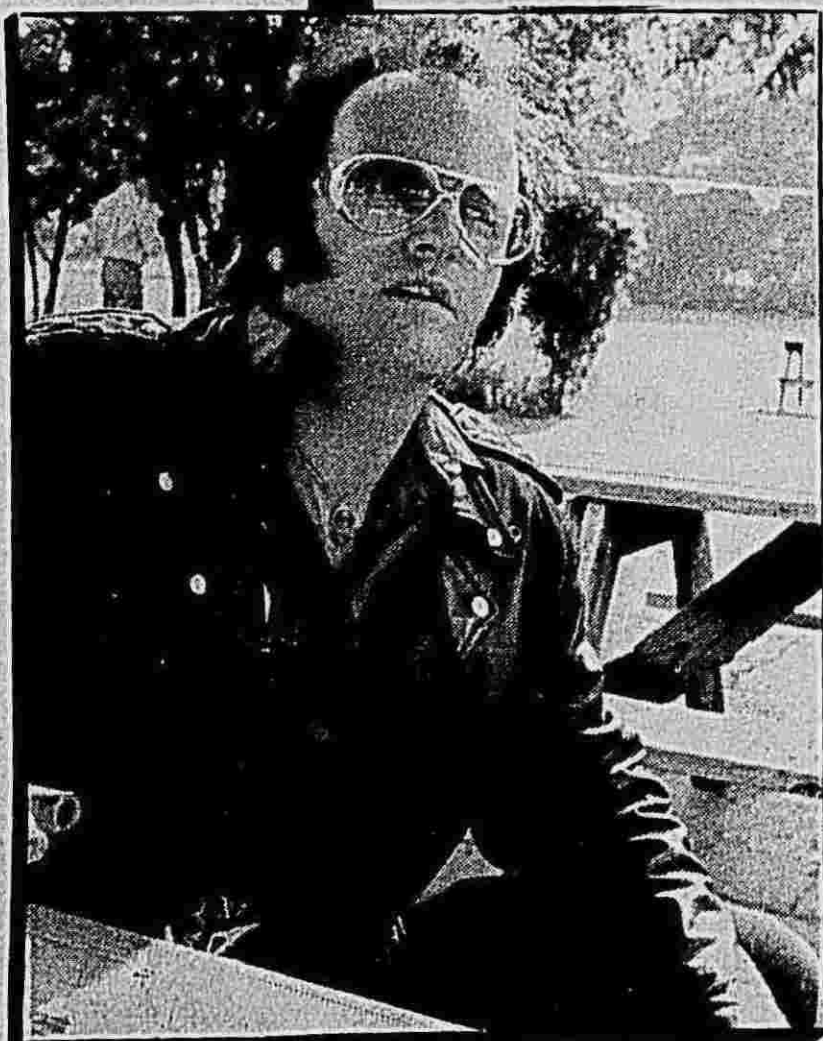

"Sometimes I think I hide behind it," Bradshaw admits. "I feel more confident" as Elvis.

"It takes a lot to be able to put it forth (as Elvis) and then shift it back" as oneself, Bradshaw says. "When do you turn it on, and when do you turn it off?"

Looking at Robert Bradshaw is unsettling for a while. But then you start to notice the ways in which he doesn't look like Elvis. Like perhaps the forehead creeps up a little bit too far where Elvis had hair.

But when he performs, Bradshaw can work up a certain intensity that makes you nervous. His eyelids droop in Presleyan abandon, he drops his head back in apparent rapture, and he starts wiggling.

Dragonflies and damselflies explored in nature program

Descendants of insects with three-foot wingspans are flying all over Lake County. Students ages 10 through adult can examine all aspects of the modern-day relatives of prehistoric giant insects in the Lake County Forest Preserves' nature program, "Dragonflies and Damselflies," July 25 at Old School Forest preserve.

Dragonflies and damselflies are important predators of other insects, especially mosquitoes. Despite their nickname "mule killers," they are harmless to people and large animals, and are one of nature's most effective bug zappers.

Reservations are required for the 1:30 p.m. program and can be made by calling 948-7750. The fee is $1 for Lake County residents and $2 for non-residents.

Old School Forest Preserve is located on St. Mary's Road near Libertyville, south of Illinois Route 176.

International Art

A sampling of the world's finest traditional art forms will be taught to children and teachers during the Lake County Forest Preserves' Nature Week, Aug. 3 - 7, at Ryerson Woods near Deerfield.

Sponsored by the Friends of Ryerson Woods, each day will feature five different one-hour classes for children ages 7-12, and a one-hour workshop for teachers. For more information and reservations, which are required, call 948-7750. —by RHONDA VINZANT

Tempel Lipizzans begin second decade

Romantic evening performances will enhance the beauty of the Tempel Lipizzan stallions as they enter their second decade of public shows, featuring stunning displays of classical dressage during the 1992 summer season at Tempel Farms in Wadsworth. The performance features programs at 7:30 p.m. every Friday and at 10:30 a.m. every Wednesday through Aug. 26. There will also be three special Sunday shows at 1 p.m. on July 26, Aug. 9 and Aug. 23.

More than 25 Lipizzan horses appear in the program, from the farms' untrained frisky foals with their mares to the animated young stallions in the early stages of training. The finest stallions display the breath taking leaps and lifts known as Airs Above the Ground, recreating the strenuous medieval cavalry maneuvers for which the Lipizzans are famed.

The performance culminates with the elegant Quadrille, or "Ballet of the White Stallions," an intricately choreographed showpiece of four highly trained horses performing with precision and grace.

Each Tempel Lipizzan performance presents a delightful showcase for the horses' breathtaking athletic agility and graceful precision. The program follows the advancement of the Lipizzan from its early days through the years of rigorous training that develops the horse's innate abilities into a highly refined performing art.

Following the performance, visitors are invited to tour the horses' mahogany and brass stables to meet the prized rare stallions personally.

The Tempel Lipizzans continue an entertainment tradition born more than 400 years ago in the royal palaces in Europe.

Today, Tempel Farms is the only place in America where rare white Lipizzan stallions regularly perform classical dressage as developed at the famed Spanish Riding School in Vienna.

The Tempel Lipizzans have performed throughout the country at many important cultural events and presidential inaugurations over the years. Special appearances have included featured performances at the Oklahoma Mozart Music Festival, Grant Park Concert Series, Belmont Stakes, the Arlington Million, and a command performance on the White House lawn.

The late Tempel Smith and his wife, Ester, imported the first 20 Lipizzans from Austria at the end of the 1950's. In 1982, when Tempel Farms first opened to the public, the herd had grown to more than a third of the world's population of the rare horses. Today, the Smith's daughters continue the Lipizzans anywhere.

Tickets are $12 for adults, and $5 for children from four to 14. There is no charge for children under four. Performances are held indoors in case of rain. For information, call (708)623-7272.

The Courbette, originally a medieval battle technique, requires great strength and intelligence to perform.

League a hit despite errors

In the last few years, summer brings forth at least one baseball movie. Since anything to do with America's favorite pastime draws the interest of the multitudes, most of the latest diamond flicks have been box-office successes, some deservedly like "Field of Dreams," "The Natural," and "Bull Durham," some just sliding by, like "The Babe."

This year we get taken out to the ballgame by a professional all-girls team coached by an alcoholic has-been ball player, Tom Hanks and brought home by Geena Davis, comedienne Rosie O'Donnell and Madonna in "A League of Their Own."

help him work through his own alcoholic problems. Although "League" isn't necessarily a home run, it's full of base hits and even a few doubles.

Davis' portrayal of a big beautiful, multitiered farm girl who has the mysterious ability to catch anything that anyone tosses at her, draws a few yaks, and O'Donnell, who is on leave from her stand-up comedy TV show, does well as the smart-mouthed city gal. A dark-haired Madonna sort of gets lost in the crowd.

There's lots of fun here so we give "League" 3-1/2 stars out of five.—GLORIA DAVIS

Most baseball flicks have had a sentimental aura. There's nothing mushy or particularly uplifting about Director Penny Marshall's diamond comedy based on the "Bloomer Girls" of the 1940s and 50s.

Those of you over 50 will remember the professional girls teams that took over when male players were drafted for WWII and Korea.

Marshall's direction, although not up to her previous standards, gives the movie and the players an acceptable infusion of heart and Hank and Davis take over with their great comedy timing.

We loved the scene where a sobering Hanks tells a sobbing player, "There's no crying in baseball."

Hanks steals a show that tends to overdeal with the players' personal lives as the girls' triumphs help him work through his own alcoholic problems. Although "League" isn't necessarily a home run, it's full of base hits and even a few doubles.

Interview

Gurnee's Marc Davis is a busy guy. He is a man without a hobby because he doesn't really have any spare time. In the past Davis has made a successful living as a journalist, magazine editor, commodities trader, painter, comedian (Joan Rivers used some of his jokes), and most recently an advertising copy supervisor and a novelist. The 56-year-old father of two has had his second murder mystery published titled "Dirty Money," which is set at the Chicago Board of Trade and focuses on the murder investigation of a broker who is killed gangland style. Weaved throughout the book are side trips to the suburbs up along Sheridan Rd. The book's payoff is its ending which takes place in a Lake Forest mansion. His first book "Nasty Habits," was the first time we were introduced to his Frank Wolf, Private Investigator, character who reappears in "Dirty Money."

He is currently working on three other books simultaneously. One is a main stream novel with a story line that spans for several generations. It starts in Russia and ends up on Mars. The other is a self-help book about oriental mysticism and Buddhism and how they apply to today. Plus, he is putting together a book that will be a compilation of facts which he hopes will become a great reference book.

Davis was greatly influenced by his Dad who was a Chicago Tribune writer and photographer. At age six Davis was already writing comic strips and other short stories.

FAVORITE AUTHOR: Mark Twain, Hemmingway, Robert Parker, Stephen Hawkings.

BEST PARTS OF LIVING IN LAKE COUNTY: The people, living near the lake and it's between urban, suburban, and rural. There's a great variety.

FAVORITE LAKE COUNTY RESTAURANTS: Washington Gardens and The Nightingale in Highland, and my own home.

HOBBY: None. I don't really have any spare time but my passions are writing and painting.

FAVORITE MOVIE: Citizen Kane, but JFK this year.

FAVORITE MUSIC: Bach, Mozart, Charlie Parker, Cajun, Zydeco, all types.

WHAT MOTIVATES YOU? I don't know.

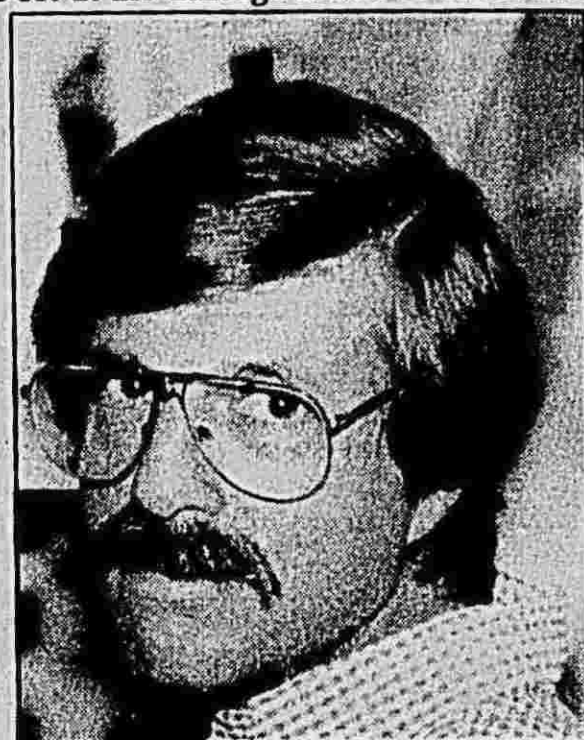

FAVORITE TELEVISION SHOWS: 48 Hours, 60 Minutes, Nightline, Late Night with David Letterman.

HOW DO YOU STAY FOCUSED? I have an iron will and I meditate a lot.

BEST ADVICE YOU'VE RECEIVED: Discount 90 percent of praise and 90 percent of criticism you'll ever get. My Dad gave me that advice.

WHAT DO YOU DO FOR FUN? I'm always having fun. I like to get together with friends for dinner and talk about metaphysics.

WHAT'S IN YOUR FUTURE? To finish any one of the books I am currently working on.—by KAREN STANWICH WANDS

Alternatives to parking at O'Hare

by JIM WARNKEN, PRESIDENT
NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

Parking at O'Hare recently increased from $12 to $16 a day. That's $480 per month for a 4'x8' concrete slab! So what are our alternatives?

Parking at O'Hare's remote lots is still $6 a day with a free shuttle bus to the airport terminals. As you enter the airport grounds, you'll see a sign directing you to a road off to the right for lots C and E. This is the same road you would take to return rental cars. You can also get to a remote lot E by exiting on Mannheim Rd. north just past the toll booth entering the airport. It's on the east side of the road.

Allow plenty of extra time if you choose this alternative. I recently had to wait 20 minutes for the shuttle bus, and, since this bus had to pick up passengers at both remote lots, it took another 30 minutes to get to the terminal. These lots also don't provide the security found in the main terminal, though I have never found this to be a problem.

If you have an early flight, several hotels in the O'Hare area offer a "stay and park" package. This allows you to stay at the hotel the night before your trip and leave your car at the hotel for the entire week. The hotel van will take you to and from the airport at no additional charge.

The Ramada offers a rate of $71. The Howard Johnson offers a rate of $73 with parking for 14 days and has a great pool.

There is also a company called "O'Hare Stay and Park" which works with several hotels and offers fenced in, secure parking. Their rate, using the Hampton, is $69. If you don't want the hotel room, you can purchase a "park only" package for $34 for up to 10 days which includes transportation to and from the airport.

Your travel agent should be able to arrange any of these packages with your airline ticket.

A limo to the airport is an alternative to parking. Rates run about $40 each way from the Lakes area. Continental Air Transport offers a bus from the Ramada on Greenbay Rd. in Waukegan for $13 each way.

King

Surely, Elvis is dead. But maybe his ghost is floating around, jumping into Elvis impersonators?

Now, I'm not saying I believe in any of this stuff. I'm not writing for the National Enquirer, after all. But there are a disturbing series of coincidences that link Elvis Presley and Elvis Bobby.

When Bob Bradshaw was born in October 1954, Elvis Aron Presley was still driving a truck for $1.25 an hour and had only just recorded his second single. The month Bob Bradshaw came into the world in Antioch, California, Elvis was in Memphis and relatively unknown. He was 19.

The Rev. Raymond Bradshaw and his wife Virginia gave their son Robert the middle name "Eugene" (with an "E," like in "Elvis"). How could they have known that many years later, Elvis Presley would play a sold-out concert in Eugene, Oregon—and Oregon was the state that the Bradshaws would later make their home.

After not performing for nine years, Presley returned to the stage in 1969. In the same year, a 15-year-old Bob Bradshaw had his very first public performance. Bob sang in his sister's gospel group, the Soulsearchers, at the Salvation Army Church in Roseburg, Ore.

Elvis and Bob share a passion for gospel music. From their upbringing, the Presleys and the Bradshaws were both devoted members of the Assemblies of God church. On August 16, 1977, the day Elvis died, Robert Bradshaw was watching the taping of a live gospel TV show in Medford, Oregon. Bradshaw remains religious and attends Living Waters Assemblies of God Church in Grayslake.

Elvis married Priscilla Beaulieu on May 1, 1967. But the couple grew apart, and after Priscilla got involved with a karate instructor, Elvis and Priscilla were divorced. The date of the Presleys' divorce was Oct. 9, 1973. Little more than two weeks later, Bob Bradshaw turned 19—the same age Elvis had been when Bob was born.

Elvis died of a drug overdose—so they say—on Aug. 16, 1977. When Bradshaw got married on Aug. 25, 1979 in Mundelein, he missed the two-year anniversary of Elvis' death by nine days. On their honeymoon, the Bradshaws visited Graceland.

When Bradshaw began acting and looking like Elvis in 1989, his new hobby "had a negative effect" on the survival of the marriage, he says.

"It had some of the final straws that broke the camel's back," Bradshaw says. "She thought it was idolizing him, placing him above God," Bradshaw recalls. "I don't idolize him above God. I think he was a tremendously gifted, phenomenal person. But he was just a man. He was not like people build him up to be."

Bradshaw and his wife were divorced on Jan. 7, 1992—one day before Elvis' birthday. That fact was "ironic," Bradshaw says. "But that don't say nothing at all," he adds.

It's Friday night, and Elvis is calling me from his hotel room in Las Vegas. Collect.

"Will you accept the charges?" asks the operator.

"Of course," I say.

"Hello," comes the voice on the other end.

Elvis Bobby is at the 15th-year tribute convention, joining the hundreds of Elvises in the California-based EP Impersonators International Association.

During his address to the convention, Bradshaw planned to read a quotation from Presley that may explain why he likes to play the King.

"When I was a child, I read comic books, and I was the hero of the comic books. And I saw movies, and I was the hero in the movies," Bradshaw recited. "So every dream I ever dreamed has come true a hundred times."

Who doesn't want to be the hero?

"There's times," Bradshaw says, "when my hair is more properly styled, everything is in the proper setting, and you're in a groove with the band, someone'll say, 'God, for a minute I thought that was Elvis!'"

"Those things please me. It's flattering. But you have to convey to them, 'I'm still a different person. I'm still myself.'"

Pretending to be someone else lets you recreate yourself at the same time, Bradshaw seems to be saying.

"The act...lets you emphasize the characteristics you like about yourself," Bradshaw says. "I reconstruct my positiveness, my desire."

"I used to think I wasn't good enough for things, but (the act) has made me realize my potential for being somebody."

Being good at being Elvis "makes me feel better about being myself, the one person that I'm number one at, and that's Bob Bradshaw."

Etymological note: Elvis is an ancient Norse name, originally "Alvis," meaning "all wise."

Horoscope

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Make the most out of an opportunity that knocks on your door. There could be an unexpected kink in this story, but you work it out. You may need some down time this weekend.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Explore options and read all the fine print this week. Be a pioneer in your field. Accept responsibility and you have reason for celebration as the weekend comes in.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Evaluate what is going on in a special relationship. You spend a good part of this week renegotiating your position with a boss, partner or loved one. You hear good news as the week comes to a close, though you may have to be responsible and on the scene all weekend long.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Get ready to launch into action this week, even if you planned to keep it low keyed. Listen to your instincts regarding a business or money matter. By the way, you are really loved. Split for the weekend.

LEO (July 23-August 22) Work continues to be the focus this week. Nerves may be frayed, but remember, there are alternatives. You lighten up toward the end of the week, because the social beast in you comes out.

VIRGO (August 23-September 22) The kaleidoscope of love preoccupies you much of this week, though you do take a break from this activity to get a little work done. Don't let a partner's "flakiness" get to you. Remember right now, this year, the world is your oyster.

LIBRA (September 23-October 22) You need and must change your base of operations. Trust your instincts, because they are on target. You land well, if you risk and support yourself in change. Allow more positive vibrations into your life, and you see the benefits by the end of the weekend.

SCORPIO (October 23-November 21) Make that phone call and handle what you've been postponing. What occurs tells you that you need to be a lot "more sure" of yourself. Come from a centered spot dealing with a loved one this weekend. You get better results and are much happier.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22-December 21) Once more, the drama centers around money and who you are. You have choices to make, and you must honor your own integrity. Count on this being an unusually busy week. Be careful with messages, answering machines, etc.

CAPRICORN (December 22-January 19) Get used to being more expressive, because that's where the planets are taking you. Your business sense saves the day, later in the week. Relish a weekend where the action comes to you.

AQUARIUS (January 20-February 18) You may be shaking your head this week, because of what you hear and what goes on. The moon premieres in your sign toward the weekend, adding to your luster and allure. Celebration and overindulgence walk hand-in-hand this weekend.

PISCES (February 19-March 20) Events have you shaking your head and wondering "what's next." Resist impulsiveness; go the tried and true path of logic. The moon beams a path to heaven this weekend, exclusively for you and those lucky enough to be around you.

The lazy days of summer are here and there is plenty of great weather to get started on those long over due home improvement projects. Landscaping tips with patios and decks

The cost to build your own patio or deck and be much less when doing the work yourself and barely disrupt the household during construction.

Following are a few suggestions. Compare the options in deciding between one of these projects:

- Outdoor rooms need to be about the same size as the largest indoor rooms. Measure your patio furniture and add enough room for pulling out chairs and walking around.

- Decks have a soft look and are more in accordance with a wooden house or a rustic setting. They do not reflect unwanted heat and light.

- Patios have a more permanent look and feel. And their reflected heat feels great in the spring. Because of the wide variety of paving materials available, patios can complement any style of house and landscape. They do require level ground, though.

- The greatest advantage of decks is that, because they do not require level land they can make a terrible terrain lovely and useful. Decks also can be built over old, cracked concrete without the expense or work of tearing it out. A good combination is a deck at the floor level of the house, with steps leading down to a patio in the garden.

- Either project will be enjoyed for weeks longer on both sides of summer if you build around a fire pit. Some fire pits can double as low tables in hot weather.

- Renters or those who want an instant outdoor room while forming their landscaping plans should consider building a portable deck. These units can be built in a day, moved from sun to shade with the season, and stored away for the winter. Later, they can be placed permanently.

- The wood of decks blends well with hot tubs, while the solid surface of a patio works better around most swimming pools, though there can be exceptions. Because of its formality, a patio best fits most ornamental pools or fountains. Decks easily expand to include sandboxes and play structures.

Different surfaces, including swirl textures with a trowel, straight broom textures, a checkerboard pattern, geometric shapes that resemble flagstones, a wavy broom finish and a keystone finish with a mortar of white cement and sand trowelled onto a coarse surface.

Add color or seating with handsome modular planters

Mix, match or stack these easy-to-build containers to provide a multi-level display of plants for your deck or patio. Or, invert them to create sturdy padded benches for extra seating.

Exterior dimensions of all the planters are identical—15 inches square. Heights will vary, depending on the size of the lumber you select. By stacking two or more together, the variety of arrangements you can achieve is almost limitless.

The containers shown here use 2x4s for the smallest version, 2x8s for the mid-size planter and 2x12s for the largest. You could also use 2x6s and 2x10s. The bases are made of 1x4 boards. All these sizes are readily available at any lumber retailer. For economy, durability and good looks it is recommended you use either a naturally decay resistant species, such as Cedar, or pressure-treated Western softwood lumber. (Note: Always wash hands after handling treated wood and never burn scraps of treated wood in fireplaces or wood stoves.)

Even if you've never before tackled a wood-working project, you should have no trouble completing these simple wood planters. Besides the lumber, all you need is a hammer, a saw, a power drill, a small tube of exterior use glue and about 30 stainless steel or hot-dipped galvanized 3-inch nails.

For each planter, you will need five lineal feet of two-inch dimension western softwood lumber (of any width) for the sides. You will also need a five-foot length of 1x4 or the base.

To make the sides, cut two lengths 15 inches long and two lengths 12 inches long. Place the boards on edge and arrange to form a 15-inch square, then fasten them at the corners with glue and nails, spaced two to three inches apart. (To avoid the risk of splitting the wood, you may want to predrill the nail holes for the corner joints. Use a drill bit that is slightly smaller than the diameter of the nail.)

For the base, cut the 1x4 into four, 14-inch lengths. Nail them side by side to the bottom of the square so they are inset a half inch from the outer edges on all four sides. Using a half-inch bit, drill six to eight holes in the base for drainage. To help protect the surface under your planters, cut two-inch squares from scraps pieces of lumber and attach them as feet to the bottom corners.

To make a variety of sizes, select several widths of two-inch lumber, from 2x4s and 2x6s, all the way up to 2x12s. If you need extra outdoor seating, simply turn one or more of the deeper containers upside down and add a colorful cushion.

Pressure treated western softwoods may be primed and painted or stained to match your deck or patio, or simply use a clear water repellent and leave the unfinished wood to weather naturally.

Decorate a deck with these versatile modular containers. Made from standard size lumber, so simple to build in just one afternoon.

Get pool water that's clean, clear with proper filtration

Proper filtration is a key to providing clean and clear pool water, a major concern of all Lake County home swimming pool owners. What's more, effective filtration normally reduces the amount of chemicals required for a sanitary pool.

The filter's main job is to remove dirt and other matter from the water to clarify it. Complete, or nearly so, removal of particulates from the water by filtration permits the chlorine to destroy effectively bacteria, viruses and soluble organic matter.

The two most popular home pool filter types use either DE or sand. Diatomite filters require a "precoat" of DE filter aid on the filter screen. Actual filtration takes place through this precoat, which will be about 1/16 inch thick when you use the correct amount.

In addition to removing unwanted dirt particles, the diatomite precoat also prevents these same particles from plugging up the filter element cloth or wire cover, thus reducing filter element cleaning operations.

If the filter elements become plugged or clogged, follow the cleaning directions supplied by your filter manufacturer or consult your Lake County pool water chemical supplier.

Under typical operating conditions, the filtration cycle is over and it's time to clean the filter when the filter pressure gauge reaches the manufacturer's maximum recommended level. Thorough cleanings will extend the time between cleanings.

The other major types of home filters use beds of sand, or sand and gravel, through which the water flows, leaving dirt particles trapped within the sand. Clean them when the dirt accumulated in the sand bed slows down the flow of water through the filter.

Sand filters are cleaned by backwashing. That is, pool forced through the filter in the direction opposite from normal filtering.

At times of heavy use—when family and friends fill the pool—owners of DE filtered pools will hardly notice a change in water clarity, but owners with sand filters might.

One way to check your pool water clarity is to drop a "clarity-test disc" at the deepest point. If the black and red color markings printed on the disc are clearly defined, your pool filtration system is working well.

A good solution may be to give the sand-filtered pool a rest from swimmers to let the filter catch up with the increased dirt load in the pool. Or, use alum to improve filter efficiency.

If your DE filtered pool is subject to variable bather loads, it is advisable that a 24-hour-a-day filter use the a weekly filter cleaning and change of filter aid may be the most economical.

Skylights can save energy

Energy used for lighting accounts for about one-fifth of all the electricity consumed in this country. The more electricity we use, the more toxic fumes we generate. These fumes contribute to the greenhouse effect and the formation of acid rain.

Making sure to turn off all lights not in use or installing energy efficient long life bulbs are ways to cut energy use.

A skylight can make any room in the house look brighter, more spacious and airy, from kitchens, bedrooms and living rooms to offices, hallways and bathrooms.

Not only does a skylight give additional light, it also brings in more heat via passive solar energy. This conserves even more on heating costs.

Experts say it's okay to paint over wallpaper

Redecorating wall-papered rooms can create a dilemma for homeowners, especially for those who want to paint.

The critical question: Is it best to steam and scrape off the old paper before painting, or can I simply paint right on top of the wallpaper?

According to experts, it depends on the condition of the wallpaper.

To achieve good results with any type of painting, indoors or out, it's important that the surface you are painting be clean and sound.

In the case of wallpaper, if the paper is securely adhered to the wall, then it is usually possible to paint right over it and get excellent results. But if the paper is unstable due to peeling, severe blistering or bubbling, then it may be necessary to strip off the old paper before painting.

That's not to say that the wallpaper has to be in perfect shape to be paintable. Many minor imperfections can easily be remedied.

For example, if there are small bubbles in the wallpaper, they can be slit with a razor, glued down and then pressed flat with a seam roller.

On the other hand, if the paper is torn or missing in spots, the solution is to flake off peeling edges with a wide scraper or putty knife, feather in spackling compound, and when the compound dries, lightly sand the surface until it is smooth.

Whether or not the wallpaper needs this kind of repair, it's always wise to apply a high quality latex or oil-based primer before painting over wallpaper. This is especially important if the wallpaper has a brightly colored pattern.

And, since some wallpaper contains dye that will "bleed" through primers and paints, it's a good idea to conduct a spot test in an out-of-the-way area before proceeding too far.

To do this, simply apply a primer and paint to a small area and wait a few hours. If bleed-through occurs, try a spot test with two coats of primer and a coat of paint. If there is still bleed-through, ask your paint retailer, hardware store or decorating center to recommend a special stain-blocking primer, and again, start with a test area.

After successfully completing the spot test, prime the entire room and paint with a top quality interior paint. Although these paints are more expensive than ordinary paints, they are well worth the money.

Calculating paint amounts

If you're confused about the amount of paint required for your latest home improvement project, take heart. Here's how to quickly estimate the quantity needed so you don't miss a beat:

A. Determine the areas of each wall surface you plan to paint by multiplying the height by the length (or width) to get the square footage. Add these figures together.

B. Do the same calculation for every area that won't be painted over, such as doors and windows, adding these figures together.

C. Subtract the total square footage of the not-to-be-painted areas (B) from the total wall surface area (A).

D. Check the label on the paint you're planning to buy for the "spread rate" (typically 400 square feet per gallon). Divide the total square footage result in (C) by the spread rate. That will give you the number of gallons you'll need for each coat.

A second coat of paint is often needed in the following circumstances:

- When covering a dark color with a lighter one;
- When painting over porous masonry surfaces like stucco;

•When you want an exceptionally durable paint job.

One final tip: It's always better to overestimate the amount of paint you need, rather than come up short in the middle of the job. If you buy your paint from a paint retailer, hardware store or decorating center, you can often return unopened cans for credit, if they are not a custom color. And extra paint is always useful for touchups.

Q: I want to put wallpaper or a border in a few rooms but don't know where to start or what to do. Can you help?

A: Carr, Lindenhurst
A: Wallpaper borders today range from whimsical childrens designs to traditional floral to contemporary geometric shapes. There are as many uses for borders as there are different styles. By using a border you can accentuate or create architectural interest where none may have previously existed. Ceiling lines will soar when accented by a border by continuing the border into an alcove it becomes part of the overall room.

Borders can even create or accent an existing chairrail. Borders may be used to coordinate with wallpaper, for a less expensive facelift they may be used alone on a painted wall. The size of the border you select is also important. Sizes range from 2 inches to 24 inches with the most common being 4 inches to 6 inches. If you're in love with a border, but it seems too small consider using it twice to increase the width.

Most of all have fun with borders. Let your imagination and creativity go. You'll find that borders can add just the finishing touch you were looking for in decorating.

Q: We've put a lot of work into our home and have installed a beautiful new front door. Any suggestions to help out the foyer. The new door has made it quite drab.

A: Create a welcoming first impression of your home by thoughtfully planning the decor of the foyer. Entrance areas should be interesting and present a preview of what's to come.

•Do use a mirror, a handsomely framed mirror over a chest or table is always appropriate. Or mirror a closet door.

•In situations where the front door opens into the living space, create a foyer with a mirrored folded screen.

•Do something dramatic with the walls. Splurge on an exquisite wallpaper.

Q: My kitchen is 11'1" x 10' 9", has gold countertops with a white refrigerator, stove and oven and beige carpeting. The window has a white mini blind.

The bathroom is 6'8" x 7'4" with gold toilet, sink and tub with fiberglass panels. My window has no blind and a snip and clip wall to wall rug.

At the present time, I have in the bathrooms wallpaper in the earthtone colors in a small print that I would like to change, but am at a loss to know what colors would go well with the gold and size print for the wallpaper.

Also, what would you suggest to go with the blind in the kitchen for the windows (color, pattern or solid)?

For the bathroom, what would you suggest for the window, towels and rug (color, pattern or solid)?

Any help you give me, will be greatly appreciated.
Jean Bellanger,
Grayslake

A: For the kitchen, I would add pattern to the room with some gold or yellow in it to help the gold countertop. Is there room for a border or wall covering? I'd co-ordinate the window fabric or use a complimentary color such as blue, green or burgundy. Another choice is to put in a new counter top color, it will take away the problem quickly.

For the bathroom, this room can be treated in a similar way. We could bring in beige background with a more traditional color scheme, gold green, navy etc. If all the tones are similar the gold will blend in and not stick out. Depending on the bath window size, if it's small a blend or shade with a sample valance to compliment the new wallpaper, maybe a shower treatment too.

Q: We have wood floors throughout our home. Can you give me some information about area rugs?

A: Area rugs can fit any style room. They can be the center of interest or focal point, or they can be a frame for a special piece of furniture, like a coffee table, sofa or dining set. They can divide a large room into several comfortable conversation areas.

They're ideal for people who move often, and are very busy to clean. The traditional Persian rugs, classic, lush are usually made from wool, enhance most formal settings beautifully.

Custom-designed area rugs are also available. You can select patterns and colors to coordinate with our decor. These one of a kind rugs provide a truly custom touch to your room setting.

Fibers and weave determine rug quality. The heavier and more dense a rug, the better the quality. Wool is the best and most expensive fiber. It is versatile and soft, but is very moisture absorbent, expensive and must be treated to prevent moth damage. Man-made fibers have more advantages, they're non-allergenic, moisture resistant and moth-proof. Popular nylon carpet is durable, stain resistant and holds color well.

Narrow plan inexpensive to build, only 1,398 sq. ft.

An entrance foyer gives full view to an open rail stair and living room that features a vaulted ceiling and central fireplace.

The roomy dining room area is conveniently located to the compact kitchen and a half bath is included in this area. Laundry facilities are shown at the rear of the front entry double garage.

There are three bedrooms shown for the second floor, two of which share a bath, the master enjoying the luxury of a private bath that has a separate shower, two lavatories and a garden tub. A huge walk in closet is provided for this room. Attic storage is from the upstairs central hall.

The traditional exterior is constructed of stucco and horizontal wood siding and a large keyed Palladian window is shown for the first floor and two dormer windows enhance the second floor. The double garage entry includes tow separate garage doors.

The plan is Number 377. It is a computer generated plan and includes only 1,398 square feet of heated space. All W. D. Farmer plans include special construction details for energy efficiency and are drawn to meet FHA and VA requirements.

How-to pointers for prime painting performance

Do-it-yourselfers have a love/hate relationship with painting.

That's what a well-known paint manufacturer found when it surveyed consumers who do painting projects: Roughly half of the respondents said they "love to paint," and the remainder said they "hate to paint."

Whether you fall into one group or the other, painting is the most popular DIY project, according to a home repair survey conducted by the Good Housekeeping Institute.

The reasons for looking forward to your next painting project—or cringing when you see the exterior trim on your house begin to crack and peel—are many, but there are a few practical pointers that can help you achieve better painting performances, whether you enjoy painting or not.

The following is a collection of tips designed to overcome some of the pesky painting challenges we all face during home improvement season:
The great frame-up

Is there an easy way to paint just the window frame and not the window? If you have the masking tape blues, try this:

Take a single newspaper sheet, wet it, and place it squarely on the glass overlapping the frame. Before the paper dries, use a utility knife to carefully cut the newspaper along the edge where the glass and frame meet, then paint.

When the paint and paper dry, remove the paper to reveal a clean, straight paint line and a clear window pane.

A groovy idea

The groove around the top of the paint can that helps secure the lid doubles as a paint collector. As you work, this "lip" fills with paint and overflows down the can sides and onto the floor.

A drainage system will alleviate this mess and can be created simply by punching a few small holes in the can's rim, using a hammer and an awl or ice pick. The paint will then drain back into the can.

Customize your paint

The surface paint, and its environment, can require special coating performance features. Some of these can be achieved with paint additives that you mix into the paint before applying it.

For example, if the north side of your home is susceptible to mildew growth, fungicide additives will fight the bacteria growth on those moist areas.

There are also paint insecticides and preservatives that help ward off wood infestation and rot. Other additives are designed to improve paint adhesion and flow/leveling characteristics. Check your local paint store for these special items.

Know your enemy

The need to repaint is often caused by moisture. If it's a metal surface, moisture will speed surface oxidation, or rust; if it's wood, moisture penetrates the paint film and enters the wood fibers.

Varying moisture levels in the wood lead to warping and cracking, which in turn can cause the paint to peel. Also, moisture in the wood creates a culture that enables bacteria to grow and rot its structure.

The key is to locate and seal any surface exposed to moisture, especially wood.

Give stiff bristles the brush

Like most things, the cost of a good paint is going up. Here is a paint brush storage technique to extend brush life by keeping the bristles from hardening.

After you rinse paint from the brush (using mineral spirits for oil-base and soap and warm water for latex paints), place the handle between your palms and rub them together vigorously for 30 seconds. This will spin the remaining liquid out of the brush and help it dry.

Then, lay a full newspaper page on the floor. Place the brush at the bottom left edge of the paper with the handle off the page. Turn the brush over, folding the paper with it to wrap the bristles tightly, and continue this process until the brush is completely "packaged" in paper. A rubber band will keep it from unraveling and the bristles will stay flexible in storage.

Paint storage wrap-up

When you buy a gallon of paint, use only part of the contents, and store it for an extended period, the paint may begin to harden inside the can. Try this: Before you close a paint can, wipe out the groove around the top of the can, then cover the entire opening with cellophane wrap (plastic food wrap will work).

Next, secure the lid by tapping with a hammer, then stand the can on its lid and tap on it with your full body weight (do not use this step for plastic containers). Finally, store the can upside-down, which prevents air from entering the can and drying out the paint.

Different strokes

Paint brushes are available in various sizes and materials, and choosing the right brush for the job will save you time and money.

Bristles are either natural or synthetic. Natural is best for oil-base coatings, varshes and polyurethane coatings, but do not work well for latex or water-base paints because the bristles absorb water and lose shape. Synthetic brushes, the best of which have nylon/polyester blend bristles, perform well with all types of paints.—AL UBELL

Know ABCs of pool safety

The backyard pool season would not be complete without a refresher course on the important subject of pool safety. Anyone in the Lakeland area who owns a swimming pool, spa or hot tub should be well-versed on the topic already, but it's always a good idea to review the basics each season.

An ounce of prevention. There are several critical guidelines that you should always follow to help prevent accidents before they happen.

1. Never let children under the age of 14 swim unsupervised in a pool. Constant, vigilant supervision of infants and children is paramount at all times.

2. Set pool rules and stick by them. Don't allow running around the pool (slips can easily occur), and insist on safe use of diving boards, slides and other water toys.

3. When you have guests visiting, always find out whether they can swim or not. Supervise guests who cannot swim the way you would a child. Basic safety items by the pool

1. Every pool should have a first aid kit handy. Strongly consider having a family member trained in basic CPR if one isn't already. Keep written instructions with the first aid kit just in case.

2. Be sure your pool includes basic markings which clearly indicate water depth in each section. Chemical Safety: Take it seriously

1. Always, always, always read directions for the use, storage and handling of pool chemicals.

2. Never mix chemicals together; the chemical reaction could cause an explosion or fire.

3. Always add chemicals to the pool separately.

4. Keep chemicals out of the reach of children. Only a responsible adult should handle pool chemicals.

5. Never smoke around pool chemicals. Most have highly flammable fumes that could ignite.

The bottom line of most pool safety advice is to use basic common sense. There can be no greater fun and satisfaction for a family than relaxing by their pool on a hot summer day. Always taking a responsible approach to safety can allow pool owners to have the worry-free enjoyment they deserve.

Tips for lighting home laundry, workshops areas

When someone has accidentally spilled red wine on a white linen tablecloth, it's easy to find the stain and treat it before popping it into the washing machine. It's harder to find less obvious stains. Unless the lighting is the laundry area is effective, you usually discover they didn't come out the next time you set the table for a dinner party.

Functional light in a laundry area should include both general and task lighting. General lighting is the overall illumination you need to see and walk about safely, and task lighting should focus on the chore at hand. A ceiling or wall unit over the area is usually adequate, unless your laundry is large and includes other equipment, such as a sewing machine or a large table which at-home seamstresses might need for laying out and cutting patterns. In this case, a second fixture, such as a wall-mounted, swinging-arm lamp, is excellent because it can be adjusted and doesn't take up any room on the table. Fixtures that clamp on to the edge of a table are another suggestion.

For ceiling fixtures, fluorescents are a good choice because they save energy and do not throw off a great deal of heat. A ceiling-mounted fixture with a diffusing panel, using a fluorescent bulb of 60 to 80 watts as the light source, should do the job. Warm white deluxe will provide the best all-around color rendition.

For under shelves or cabinets, fluorescent fixtures mounted about 18 inches above the countertop provide good task lighting. Just remember, task lighting should always be combined with general lighting.

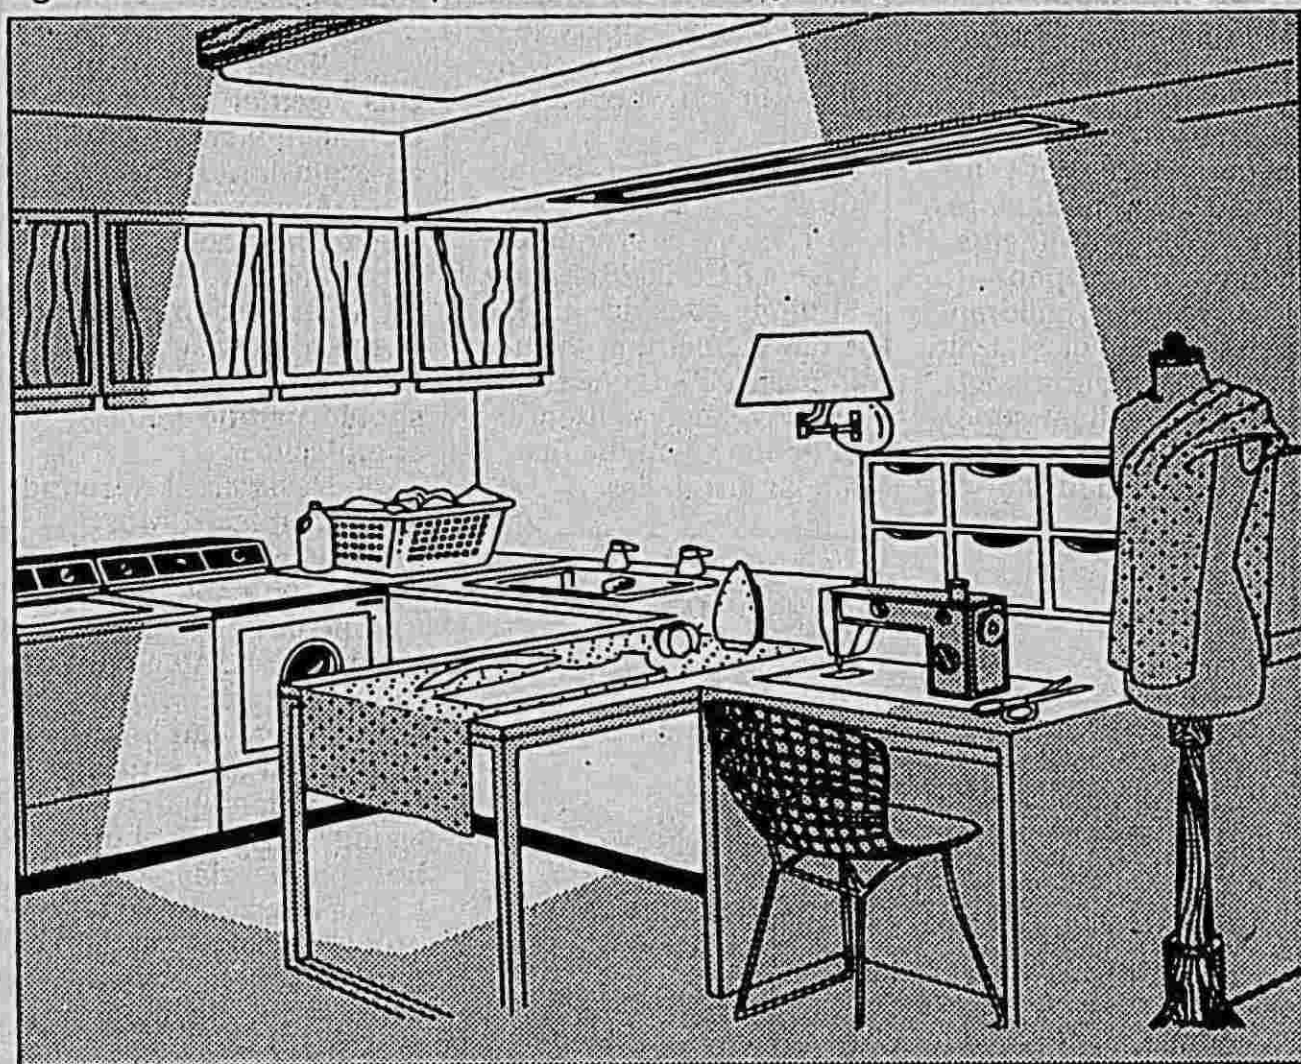

Although not many homemakers today spend a lot of time at the ironing board because of all the wrinkle-resistant fabrics available, at least a touch of the iron is usually necessary. In order to see the wrinkles, light should be positioned about 24 inches ahead of the board. A wall-mounted or ceiling fixture using a 150-watt reflector bulb will be fine. A reflector bulb puts about double the amount of light on an area as a regular bulb of the same wattage. To be sure your fixture can accommodate this bulb, visit a lighting showroom and ask for an American Lighting Assn. certified lighting consultant. While you're there, ask for information on supersavers and compact fluorescents as well as energy-saving incandescent light bulbs.

In basement or garage workshops where good lighting is important for safety when using tools, the same suggestions as for the laundry are appropriate. However, you may want to substitute cool white fluorescent as the light source because of its lower cost, unless you work a lot with matching wood or paint where color rendition is vital.

When you are remodeling your laundry or workshop areas, installation of recessed lighting may be possible. Consider track fixtures if the space above the ceiling can't accommodate recessed lighting.

Hot weather alert—tips for keeping cool at less cost

It's summer time and it's also time to make sure that air conditioners are used wisely to conserve energy and reduce operating costs.

Lakeland area consumers should find themselves cooler and more comfortable at lower cost by following tips such as these recommended by the Air-

Conditioning and Refrigeration Institute (ARI), the trade association representing manufacturers of central air conditioning and heat pump systems:

- Set the thermostat control at the highest comfortable level—each degree raised reduces energy consumption by three to four percent.

- Caulk, weather-strip and insulate (especially the attic) to close air gaps.

- Plan hot work (washing and drying clothes, baking, cooking) for cooler morning and evening hours.

- Pull drapes and shades over windows facing the sun.

- Keep windows and doors closed when the air conditioning is on.

- Check the air filter, and replace or clean it as warranted, every 30 days during heavy cooling.

- When leaving the house for more than four hours, turn the thermostat up to about 82 degrees and keep the house closed to minimize heat buildup.

Homeowners can paint their aluminum siding

Back in the 1960s and '70s a legion of homeowners bought into an appealing sales proposition: "Install aluminum siding and forget exterior home maintenance forever."

Blinded by visions of carefree summer days, they signed on the dotted line and prepared for a life of leisure.

Today, those same homeowners are making preparations of a different kind: to restore their weathered aluminum siding.

As time has shown, the coating on aluminum siding panels is not indestructible—it does erode, chalk and fade. And, in extreme cases, the metal itself can be exposed, and then oxidize.

If your home is suffering this fate, take heart. Aluminum siding is actually an excellent exterior surface to repaint. By adding a fresh coat of top quality latex paint, you can breathe new life into your old siding.

As with most exterior painting projects, proper surface preparation is key to restoring your aluminum siding.

Begin by thoroughly cleaning your siding of all loose dirt, chalk and other contaminants. The easiest way to do this is with rented power-washing equipment, although hand-washing with warm, soapy water will also work. Be sure to rinse the surface after using any cleaning solution.

If your siding has unsightly white surface oxidation, carefully remove it with steel wool or sandpaper, then clean off any residue.

Although protected areas, such as porch ceilings, eaves, soffits and even carports, usually degrade less than surfaces exposed directly to the sun and elements, they may have mildew on them. To remove it, apply a diluted bleach solution, then rinse the surface clean.

For the best results, choose a top quality acrylic latex paint when redoing your siding. This type of coating will adhere tenaciously to factory-finished siding, resulting in an extremely durable, long-lasting paint job.

Top quality latex paints contain special additives that help maintain a fresh appearance. Most have additive that provides good mildew-resistance.

Other additives in top quality paint make the coating go on thick and uniform, yet apply easily with good "leveling," an application property that helps you duplicate the original appearance of the siding, whether it be smooth or textured.

It's true that top quality paints, at $20 to $25 or more per gallon, are costlier than ordinary grades of house-paint. But they often provide 10 years, or more, of service, while ordinary paint may last only three or four years.

they start taking it away from you. And it just doesn't seem fair for people working so hard all their lives. What the welfare system should do instead of cutting down and taking money away from the people, they should make it so that when you start making money, you can start getting ahead. So you can keep the money and get ahead. Thank you very much, good-bye.

Hey, Joe?

Yes, I have a complaint about the article about people enjoying the fireworks from the lake on their boats. That is very nice. But, I was listening to the marine radio with all of the profanity and the misuse of channel 16. They were cluttering it up with, "Hey, Joe, this is Larry. Where is Harry?" I think that someone should crack down on the misuse of the radio. End of message.

Power workers busy

In response to the caller and the downed power line. Did she call to report it? Did she stop to think that Edison workers were off and down in the south side of Chicago? My husband is an Edison employee, who on the Fourth of July did not even get to eat his dinner. He left at 8 p.m. and did not return until 1:30 a.m. On Sunday he left from 8 a.m. until 4 p.m. They should be given some credit. They have a lot of lines to take care of and a large route and they are doing a damn good job.

Lost dog, lost luck

Hi, I am calling about "Where has my doggy gone?" I have seen animals around or in my yard so many times. And I have called the police and they tell me to catch the animal and put it in my back yard or bring them in my house. Now, I don't know these animals. I don't want them in my house. So, instead of the lady or man complaining, why doesn't she just keep her animals where they belong, in her yard or in her house.

No new taxes!

Hi I am calling from Round Lake Beach and I just want to say that I will be voting no on any tax increase in November for the schools. I think they should take the money that they have and spend it more wisely, like all of us have to do in these trying times. I just purchased a new home and I don't think that my taxes should be increased. Why should I have to pay for it? Maybe we should have gotten money from the developers and stores. Thank you, bye.

Applause for Miss 1991

I would just like to congratulate Miss Antioch of 1991 for doing such a good job in representing Antioch.

The new Siskel

Hi. After reading the July 10 issue of the Antioch News-Reporter, I had to call and comment on Gloria Davis' review on Batman Returns. Unlike Ms. Davis, I found the original Batman to be a considerably better script and much more entertaining. Although I am a fan of Keaton, Pfeiffer and DeVito, I felt the extremely mediocre script limited their true acting capabilities. Particularly in the case of Michael Keaton. And Batman Returns is not a "movie for every little kid in the U.S." It is filled with violence and gore and I was truly appalled at the numerous preschool children that I saw lined up to see the show. Thank you. Bye-bye.

Way to go girls!

Hi, there. I would like to give a big hand to all of the Grant Township Little League girls in the senior division. And a special thank you to Coach Gambit and Glen Knack on their teams winning season. Good luck to all of you in the tournament. And good luck to all of the girls who made the All Star team. We need more hurrahs for these kids. Bye-bye. And thank you to all to the coaches who volunteer their time.

Keep up good work

I just want to say that the Vernon Hills Park District is doing a great job and Trustees Cashman and Henley don't deserve to represent the residents of Vernon Hills with their negative views of the park district.

Look for job, don't complain

Hi. First of all I'd like to say that I love the Lipservice. This is in regards to the "Off to work," to the kid who called who was 15 and couldn't find a job. I think that he or she should get off their duff and keep looking. I have a 14-year-old daughter that has two part-time jobs. Thanks!

Residents are snobs

Hi, I am a newcomer to Antioch. I just moved here in April and just want to say how much I have appreciated being "treated" here. I have never met such a bunch of snobs and such a bunch of old family people in my life. They don't welcome you. They don't help you. They would sooner die than give you any information. Since I have moved here, I have been accused of vandalizing the Hiram Buttrick so-called historical site, which is a garbage dump, as far as I am concerned. I was standing there looking at it and was accused of vandalizing it and I am 42-years-old. When I went to the library, I was treated like a felon when I tried to get a library card. The other day I got a ticket on my card, never was informed by any sign that there was street cleaning and no overnight parking. People around here act like they have got something much better than you. And believe me, where I came from, people treated you like you were a real person. This place stinks and I can't wait to get out of here.

Edited and upset

I do have a gripe after just reading the Lipservice section I was searching for the message that I called in and I found it under "New subscriber." I had put in there that I had canceled a while ago because there was not Antioch news stories and that I recently re-subscribed because of Lipservice. But, now I find that you edited half of my message out and only left in the part that made you look good. I am sure that this probably won't end up in your column, either. But the other reason that I canceled was because of Hometown Goodies which should be called Grass Lake Goodies. All I said was that her column was fine to leave in for people in that area. But, the people of Antioch want equal coverage. Like when Annie May used to write the column. Thank you for putting my whole message in.

Ed. note: Lakeland reserves the right to edit calls. In this instance, due to the bevy of calls concerning Hometown Goodies, we edited redundant comments.

Thanks for fun

Hi, I'd just like to call and thank everyone who made the Antioch Children's Fest on July 1 a success. Thank you to everyone who helped out.

Not garbage, but true

Yes, I would like to answer this "Garbage in print." Do you know that Lakeland Newspaper is the only paper that prints the truth? When they printed that that rotten Depke gets 6 pay checks and earns $95,000 a year, that is not garbage. I happen to know that skunk and that's all he is, is a skunk. I wouldn't insult a skunk, he's that rotten. This person who wrote that your paper is garbage in print, is nothing but garbage himself.

What's up with police beat?

I'd like to know why the Lindenhurst police officer who was accused of fondling the girl, as reported in the Chicago (Continued on page 50)

Griefnotes

No two people react in exactly the same way to the death of a loved one! Some people do well by plunging into old routines or setting up new ones. Others need time to adjust to life without the deceased. They need time to express feelings, to learn new ways of doing things and to put affairs in order. The critical matter is that the grieving person be aware of and willing to deal with the changes death has created. Activity solely for the purpose of

How To Survive The Job Search

By Nancy Sakol

Q: I have just graduated from high school and would like to attend college in the fall. While I am currently employed for the summer, the only way that I would be able to afford college would be if I would continue to work while attending school. Can you please suggest any programs that would allow me to earn credits while employed? R.G.

A: You are not alone. I speak with many people in your position. There are hundreds of colleges throughout the United States that offer what is called Cooperative Education which enables you to attend classes and work. There is a group called the National Commission for Cooperative Education which offers a free directory of colleges in the U.S. with such programs. You may write to the National Commission, Dept. WD, 360 Huntington Ave., Boston, Ma, 02115. I give you a lot of credit for wanting to further your education any way you can. Hope this helps.

Q: I am very confused about the outcome of a recent interview I had. I spent the better part of 3 hours with what I hoped was to be my new employer. Prior to the interview, I spent hours at the library researching both the company and the industry they were in. The owner showed me around the company and showed me certain departments for which I would have been directly involved if hired. Afterward we sat in his office and talked further. I proceeded to tell him that I felt he could have saved a lot of time and money by changing his inventory tracking system to one that my former employer used and thereby reducing his payroll by 2 people in doing so. The interview ended abruptly with a handshake and I was told, "we'll be in touch." A few days have passed and I contacted the company and asked to speak with the Owner only to have his secretary pick up to inform me the position was filled. Did I go overboard? A.W.

A: Sounds as if you sank. From the sound of your letter everything seemed to be going well until you started to give advice as to how he could better run his own company. In essence he may have felt that you were trying to tell him that he was not running his company efficiently. No one wants to hear that, especially from an outsider who interprets as knowing "zip" about his business. Next time around take things a bit slower. Save your great ideas until after the position is yours. Once you are on the inside and have a true picture of how the operation works, it will be more acceptable to have a "team player" offer suggestions, than for an outsider to offer solutions before the problems may be recognized. Dry yourself off and try again. Good Luck.

Note: Nancy Sakol is a licensed personnel professional and President of Superior Personnel in Gurnee.

Heldman, Karl learn, earn gold at PSG games

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

Maybe it was a two-step move to the basket by Chris Collins. Or a dunk by Gerald Baker. Or a Kenny Davis layup.

Through it all, Matt Haldman would watch from almost the end of the North Shore bench. At stake was the championship of the scholastic boys division at the Ninth Annual Prairie State Games.

For Haldman knew he must be prepared to contribute to a 101-82 win.

"I was shocked I even made the team," Haldman said. "It's an honor."

Practicing with the likes of Collins, the sharpshooter who garnered 26 points in the title game and will be headed to Duke next month, will be only beneficial when Haldman reports to Coach Max Sanders camp. Ditto for Kelly Karl, who helped the girls gain the scholastic gold in a 62-41 win over Windy City.

"Coach Sanders' style is a lot more under control. This is more uptempo and pressure defense," Haldman said.

The North Shore boys and girls gold was in addition to the gold won by the open men, which beat Southern 105-101.

Haldman came into the game against Blackhawk five minutes into the second half. The Gators led 53-64 at that time. Haldman, who will be a senior next year at LHS, made his presence known early with a steal. After missing his first shot from the field, he scored on a fastbreak for a 20-point North Shore lead.

"Usually I would play about four minutes in the first half if we were ahead," Haldman said.

Haldman's four points were among those by a reserve corp which may have given area high school teams fits. "We increased our lead with four reserves on the floor," Proviso East Coach Bill Hirt said.

Haldman was credited with an assist on a basket by Roy Johnson.

Haldman will not be resting comfortably before school starts again next month. He will be attending the Five-Star Basketball Camp July 25 and 26 and a camp at Illinois State University.

Haldman and Karl were not the only Libertyville representatives to come home from Champaign wearing gold. Kim Marshall, Jori Seymour and Sarah Morrison helped the North Shore women to the gold medal with a 3-1 win over Pioneer.

The North Shore scholastic team had its eight-year run of gold snapped by Southern. Southern won on penalty kicks after overtime sessions.

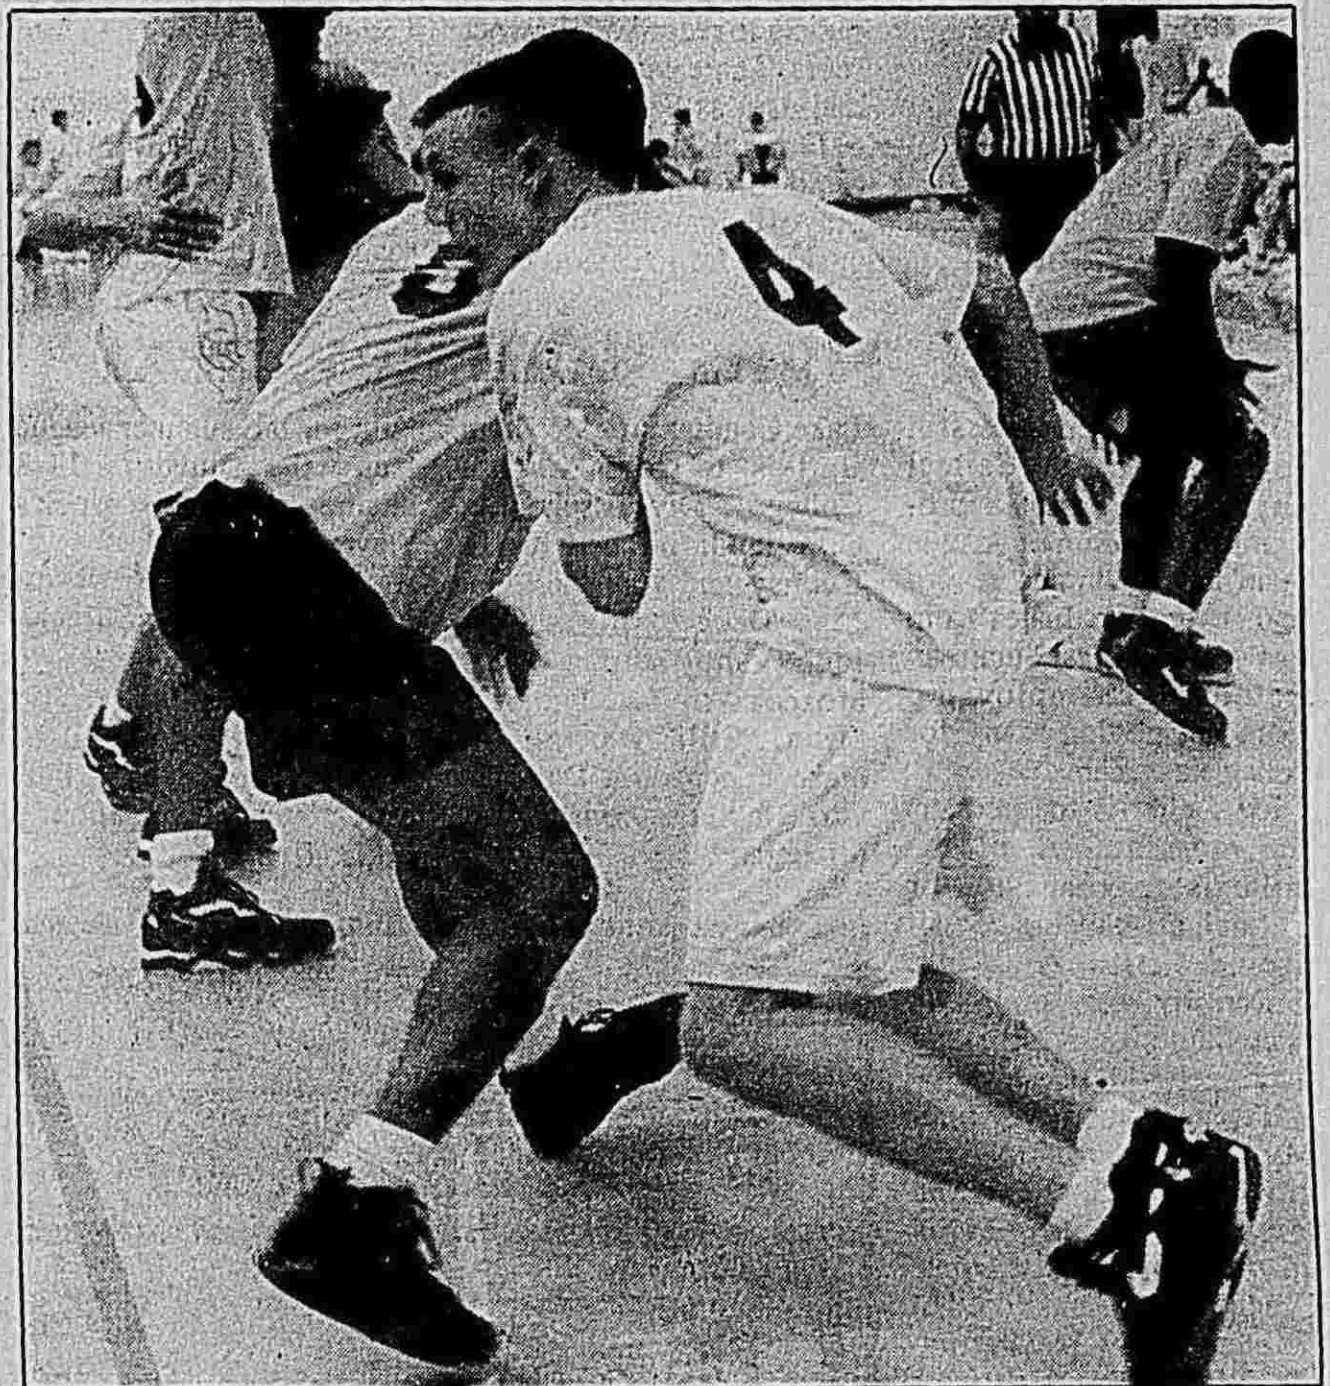

In Judo, Lake Zurich's Kurt Moriawaki won the gold medal in the scholastic boys over 175.

Libertyville standout bowler Caryn Newman won a silver medal in the scholastic girls division.

In addition to the North Shore girls soccer loss, another tradition which bit the dust was Dale Eggert. The LHS wrestling coach lost his bid for a fourth straight gold medal.

North Shore's spikers leave mark

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

There was disappointment, but few tears as the North Shore girls volleyball team fell short of its goal of winning a medal in the Prairie State Games. Yet, another goal was reached for Arian Adams as she saw her team gain the final four spot — its highest finish in recent memory.

"This year was a lot more fun because we were more successful. We seemed to jell as a team," Adams said after the 15-5, 13-15, 5-15 loss.

Adams was playing against some of the same players she plays with in Sky High club volleyball. After the match, Huntley's Jill Hemmel gave Adams a big hug. "There was a lot of joking going on, but I really wanted to beat them," Adams said.

North Shore lost to Wilco in three games in the semi-finals, setting up the hoped for third place.

"We got better every day and learned some things," North Shore Coach Mike Hewlett said.

"We learned the swing defense. We didn't use it, but we learned it," Libertyville High grad Lauren Chamberlain said.

"They were very steady players. We have a slightly different philosophy. Instead of just hitting the ball over the net, we go for aces. To go for aces, you have to be more willing to accept more mistakes," Hewlett said.

One trademark of the team, 1-2 in pool play, was the ability to comeback. A rally was tried in the bronze medal match but the 8-0 Blackhawk lead was too much.

The summer has already been a productive one for Adams. She was a member of the Sky High volleyball team which competed in the 16-year-old bracket at a tourney at Illinois Benedictine College in Lisle. The Sky High team qualified for the national tournament in Albuquerque, New Mexico, joining a field of 64 teams.

"It was real good competition. The teams were really tough. There was not one weak team there," Adams said.

The Sky High team won four matches and finished in the middle of the pack, 35th place.

PSG Games notebook:

Count Illinois mens basketball Coach Lou Henson as one who will be happy when basketball is moved back to Assembly Hall, hopefully next year. He watched several games Saturday, all around Champaign, starting at 9 a.m. Henson joins PSG officials in keeping fingers crossed for more corporate sponsors. The state withdrew its $400,000 in funding, turning the games over to a private foundation.

Gene Sullivan update: the likeable former Loyola University basketball coach is an administrator with the Chicago Park Dist. now. The hoops chairman at PSG, he is beaming about donations made to youth baseball by the Cubs and Sox, including an $800,000 pitching machines. Sullivan enjoys his annual PSG visits. "I enjoy coming back to my roots," he said.

Baseball card collection wows fans in Lake Zurich

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

There seems to be a story behind each and every one of them.

The baseball cards, some worth six figures, drew long a curious looks from baseball fans in Lake Zurich. Those shopping at Wal-Mart had a chance to not only fill the grocery lists, but relive part of baseball's long-standing traditions last week. The Wal-Mart Traveling Baseball Card Museum made an eight-hour stop at the Rte. 12 store.

"People should have fun with baseball cards," Blue Russell, curator of the museum, said.

In one corner, there is the Honus Wagner 1909 card, some 15 years after the first cards were made. "The first cards were advertisements for cigarettes and Honus did not want to be associated with a cigarette company. He ordered them all destroyed. There are about 33 cards in good condition and are estimated at $300,000," Russell said.

The card is stamped with the date Oct. 16, 1909, the day of the climatic game seven of the only World Series to pit Wagner and Ty Cobb.

The collection is worth $1 million and includes animatronics characters. It is owned by Treat, Inc.

Among the baseball nut pleasers in the collection include a 1937 card from a young member of the New York Yankees - Joe DiMaggio; and a 1952 Mickey Mantle card worth $30,00. The collection also includes uniform jerseys, a 1973 Hank Aaron model stands out.

"I think it's pretty cool seeing the old cards," Scott Vasicek of Wauconda said.

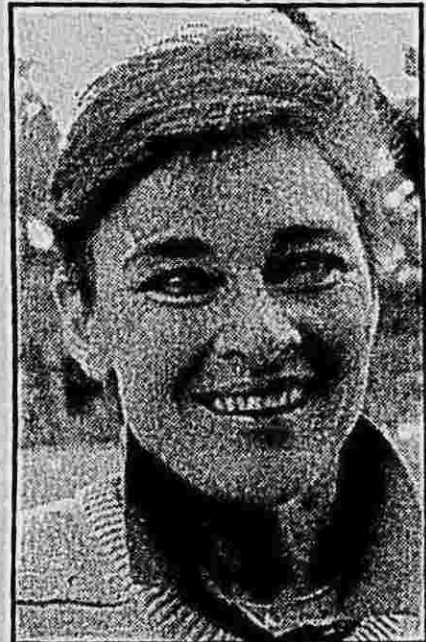

The visitors had chances to see such cards as the 1986 Jose Canseco card, the 1968 Nolan Ryan rookie card, and more. A limited edition, specially commissioned postcard by Dick Perez, official artist of the Baseball Hall of Fame, was distributed.

Rain, dramatics cap off annual ladies golf meet

Carol Bergmark

The waterfowl visiting Fox Lake County Club may have felt more at home than the golfers on Monday, but that did not stop 93 linksters from competing in the Ladies Lake County Invitational.

Carol Bergmark of Vernon Hills survived thunderstorms and a battle with a puddle to record the low net score. There were dramatics this day, as Sherri Dorman of Deerfield downed Chrissy Simonian of Waukegan in a playoff for the championship.

"It was no different than any other day, except for the rain," Bergmark, who won the tourney three years ago, said.

Bergmark, who shot a 73, recalled one battle she had with Mother Nature. "A putt on the fourth hole hit a puddle. The next shot went about four feet. Fortunately, I only had 12 feet to go," Bergmark said.

Bergmark, whose home course is Deerpath, had played in ladies tournaments at Foss Park and Midlane. "This course has some topography to it," she said.

Other winners included five low net scores. The players and their home courses: Joan Dodich, Foss Park, 78; Judy Greskovich, Countryside, 79; Kim Collins, Deerpath, 79; Sally Reich, Deerfield, 80 and Simonian, Bonnie Brook, 81.

Four flight winners were:

Lorena Mondenedo, Bonnie Brook, 95; Jen Schwartz, Bonnie Brook, 98, Geillian McLaughlin, Lake Bluff, 103 and Bev Varney, Countryside, 108.

CHS star signs, tourney next

It's been a successful summer for the Carmel High School baseball program. The summer league team has a winning record and several graduates from last year's co-East Suburban Catholic championship team are getting ready for collegiate careers.

Joe Keller is the perhaps the most notable of the collegiate prospects for Carmel, announcing he will attend Illinois State University next spring. He is coming off a .470 batting average, 55-hit season.

"I'm very happy for him. My family and his have grown pretty close over the last three years. My Dad is up there smiling," Carmel Coach Chuck Gandolfi said.

Keller is now playing for the Waukegan American Legion team which is making a run for the Dist. 10 title. He joins a competitive situation at catcher for the Redbirds.

"Just watching the All-Star game tonight, you can tell there is a definite weakness in catching. If you are a top-flight catcher, then they will find a spot for you. But the fastest way to the majors is still as a pitcher," Gandolfi said.

Other Carmel products having announced or planning to make their selections soon are: Curt Brusch to the College of Lake County; infielder John Bartles to John Carroll College, a Div. II school in Cleveland; pitcher Kevin Cunney and first baseman Matt Deck to Loras College; shortstop Matt Mozecki to St. Thomas, Minn. Still waiting to make a decision is Dan Devito. Devito is considering Michigan State.

As for the summer league team, the squad is 11-8 heading into this week's Stevenson regional.

"The kids have played well and it gives us a way to find things out. You can't tell much with indoor practices, so this is a big-time tryout for them," Gandolfi said.

Vernon, Libertyville both enjoy dramatic wins

Vernon and Libertyville's American Legion baseball teams both ventured out of Dist. 10 play this weekend with various degrees of success.

Vernon was on its annual swing through Florida and finished 4-3. Libertyville geared up for the 10th Dist. tourney by playing Cicero. After a close first game, Libertyville lost the nightcap.

"We had consistent production up and down the lineup," Vernon Coach Steve Breen said.

Four different pitchers gained wins and Keith Slove picked up two saves. Jeff Turnbull, Brian Mahler, John Kotowski and Brandon Leese gained the wins.

Vernon lost to Daytona Beach 7-3 as the foes rallied for five runs in the sixth inning. Turnbull then got the win in a 9-4 game.

Vero Beach downed Vernon 6-3 in 10 innings and Deland edged Vernon 9-8. The Deland game featured a dramatic rally as the Vernon team spotted a 6-0 lead.

Mahler pitched for six-and-two-thirds innings with Slove gaining the save in a 6-2 win.

Vernon then edged Lakeland 10-9 with Kotowski gaining the win. He retired nine of the last 10 batters.

Vernon is at Libertyville July 17 and concludes the regular season with a 10 a.m. doubleheader at Stevenson against Mundelein July 19.

Libertyville dropped a heartbreaker in a 3-1 loss to Cicero. Cicero won the game with a two-run homer in the seventh. Cicero dominated the second game, winning 15-1.

"Matt Brenthal pitched well - he kept his curveball low and the defense played well," Libertyville Coach John Ahlgrim said.

Libertyville staged the most dramatic of rallies after trailing 6-0 with two out in the seventh against Highland Park. They rallied for seven runs and improved to 3-7 in 10th Dist. play.

"It was just the kids' patience and keep plugging away," Ahlgrim said.

John DiJoris had the key hit, a two-run double. Craig Havlet had an RBI single. Highland Park pitchers then committed six walks. Brandon Hunter was credited with the game-winning RBI.

Winning pitcher Scott Schleiden pitched well. "He has done everything we have asked him to," Ahlgrim said.

LZ Legion ready for run

Lake Zurich American Legion baseball Coach Greg Grana is hoping his team is peaking at the right time — just before the tournament draws are announced.

Lake Zurich made it three-for-the last four with a 13-9 win over Round Lake. The home team had nine hits in the Dist. 10 slugfest. Lake Zurich is 4-5-1 in Dist. 10 play, 9-9-1 overall. Pairings for the district tourney will be announced July 18 with games starting July 20.

"We have been playing well the last week and one-half," Grana said.

Lake Zurich exploded for 11 of its 13 runs in the second and third innings against Round Lake (7-4).

James Cuellar had two home runs and six RBIs. John McMahon also had a homer.

League leaders to clash

Round Lake's Colt League baseball team derailed the front-runner and solidified a spot in the playoffs.

The Colts crushed league-leading Lake Villa I 12-1, ending Lake Villa's hopes of an undefeated season.

The win improves Round Lake to 18-3 while Lake Villa I slipped to 20-1. Lake County Colt teams finish the regular season next week with the tournament starting July 20.

Lake Villa's first batter, Matt Demartini, got a hit, but Ryan Bauer allowed only one more hit.

Round Lake had a 15-hit attack and started early, scoring first with one out. Mike Seversen got the first of his three hits, stole second and Bauer had an RBI single in the first.

The lead grew to 4-0 in the third. Seversen, Luther Belcher and Seversen all singled and Mitch Levandowski doubled.

Round Lake is at Waukegan at Bowen Park July 17 then hosts Mundelein at Round Lake High July 18 and battles Lake Villa I again at home July 19.

A new outpatient medical procedure called sclerotherapy, developed in Canada by Dr. Guyline Lanctot of the Lanctot Vein Clinics, is now available at North Point Medical Dental Center.

Sclerotherapy is performed by Craig Strobel, DO, a member of the North Point medical staff. Dr. Strobel injects veins with a medication which causes them to collapse and close. Discoloration and bulging gradually disappear. A cotton ball and adhesive tape cover the injection site. Patients may resume full activity immediately following the procedure.

Summertime sizzle to spark home buyers

Prospective home buyers naturally tend to look more closely at the exteriors of the homes presented for their inspection during summer months. According to some of the real estate experts, curb appeal takes on added importance during the summertime, and careful attention to lawn and patio can provide the extra sizzle that may make a Lake County homebuyer prospects decide to call your backyard home.

Your front door is the single most important exterior area in making a good first impression on buyers.

Many homes in all price ranges overlook the appearance of the front door. Too often, the sellers of these homes have been so intent on sprucing up the inside of their homes that this important area is neglected. Nicks and scratches on the front door, worn veneer, cobwebs and nests of bugs create an unattractive ambiance, but the good news is that many of these problems can be solved with a bit of awareness plus soap and water.

It is important to remember that the front door is the gateway to your home, and if a buyer is turned off at the entrance, oftentimes, you have turned them off permanently.

Dressing up a deck or patio helps to create "a house that smiles."

An attractively set patio table, which might even include a pitcher of lemonade during an open house, invites visitors to picture their families relaxing in your back yard. Clean, attractive lawn furniture, a decorative windsock and tasteful yard ornaments can help add charm and warmth to your home.

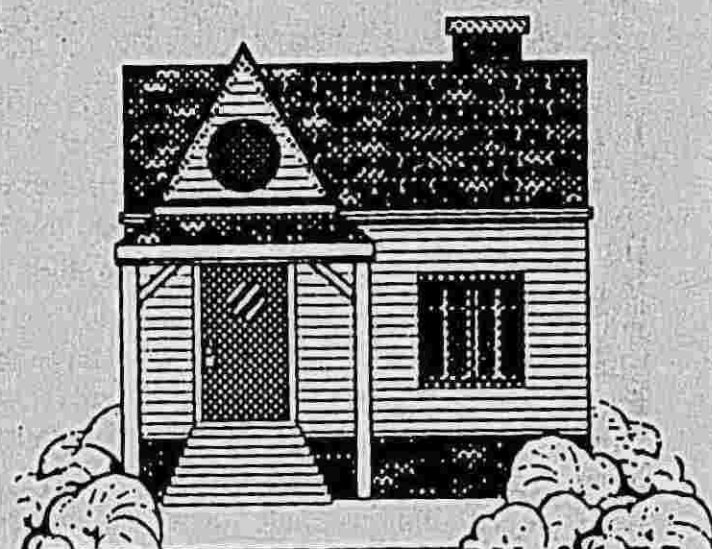

Other tips for making your home sizzle for Lake County buyers this summer are:

- Plant annual flowers for color and beauty; select flats of already blooming flowers rather than seeds for fast results.

- Scatter pots or baskets of flowers around on decks, patios and screen rooms for a colorful exterior design.

- Keep the lawn well-watered but short and sharply manicured, with edges trimmed if appropriate. Reseed bare spots for a uniformly green carpet framing your home.

- Trim bushes for a neat, crisp look and remove any dead plants.

- Fences should be straight and in good repair.

- Garden and flower beds should be weeded for a neat appearance.

- Check hardware on the front door to make sure it is in good condition, and hang a wreath or other ornament for added charm.

- Don't forget to capitalize on the picturesque views your yard and garden may add to the interior of your home. Make sure windows are sparkling clean and drapes are open; invite the beauty of the outdoors in.

A home can be very attractive even without lavish landscaping if it is neat, clean and properly cared for.

Quantity is not as important as quality when it comes to the exterior of your home. A well-cared for look is the key to summertime curb appeal and worth its weight in gold.

Lighting will make gardens glow

Do you spend countless hours cultivating your garden, only to watch its beauty fade with the setting sun?

By nightlighting your garden, you can transform it into a place of beauty, light and warmth that can be enjoyed by day or by night.

Lighting trees, shrubs and flowers brings out their color, form and texture, and brings an air of magic and excitement to the garden at night.

When you light your deck, porch, yard or patio, you are creating an extra space for playing, relaxing and entertaining after dark.

Landscape lighting increases the number of pleasurable hours you spend outdoors, enhances the beauty of your property and makes your home safer and more secure. And it is an investment that pays off handsomely in the value it adds to your home.

If properly designed, the light you use to illuminate your landscape can also be used to brighten your front entry, driveway, dark steps and paths, patios or decks.

When lightscaping your home focus on one or two key subjects like a tree, a pathway, or a flower bed and build the remaining lighting effects around them.

Make those long hours of toil in the garden worthwhile by highlighting a beautiful flower bed with inconspicuous spread lights that cast soft pools of light downward over the foliage. If positioned correctly, these low are lights can also be used to brighten adjacent steps and pathways.

Your deck, porch or patio can be converted into a romantic evening retreat by concealing low-voltage mini-lights under steps, railings or benches.

Don't forget to add stronger light over the barbecue or serving area. One way to do this is to install a recessed spotlight on an adjacent roof overhang.

Whatever you decide to do, make sure the switches are placed indoors in a central location and that they allow you to operate different parts of the system separately.

Clerk's $200 bonus is next legal battle

Legal action is now threatened against Avon Twp. for almost the same thing it accused former Supv. Norman Geary of doing.

It is a $200 per month payment to township Clerk Cathy Lennon for serving as office manager. This is in addition to her $14,000 annual salary.

The $200 monthly increase was approved by the new township board immediately upon taking office in May 1989.

At the time, Supv. Russell Christian said making Lennon a full-time employee allowed the elimination of two other persons. He estimated this saved the township $37,000 in pay and benefits.

"No matter how well meaning, an elected official's salary cannot be increased during a term of office," Geary said. "If it is done beforehand, that is okay."

Geary said the previous township board increased the township clerk's salary to $14,000 in March 1989 with the idea the position would become full-time. Then-Clerk Virginia Harrington was defeated by Lennon in the 1989 election.

After Lennon and the new township board took office Lennon took a second morning hours job in the office of the Round Lake Heights village clerk. Christian explained this was so she could earn extra money to purchase a mobile home.

When the salary issue and her second job became a political issue last December, Lennon resigned from her job in Round Lake Heights.

With his own legal action by the township ended, Geary said he will now write to the township board. "I will ask it to decrease and desist from paying Lennon the $200 per month she is getting," Geary said.

"If that doesn't happen, I'll go to court to recover the $200 per month she has received throughout the entire four years she has been in office." That could amount to $8,400.

Geary said such a lawsuit will cost money from his own pocket. "But what is right, is right."

School to bus less in fall

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

Grayslake Dist. 46 will finalize school bus routes for 1992-93 school year, an issue which has sparked interest this summer.

"We are estimating 15 percent more of our students will be walking next year," Supt. David Duffy said.

Meetings are planned with Grayslake Community High School transportation director Frank Kasper and St. Gilberts School to refine the routes.

Duffy, police chief Ed Wunderle and village manager Mike Ellis inspected where cross walks will be installed — at Ziegler Dr. and Rte. 83 and north of the high school. At the high school site, there is discussion about having the Lions Club fund part of the sidewalk outside of the district.

Duffy said the village has been "very cooperative" with the sidewalk project, noting the installation of sidewalks in South Creek area. "Whether or not they can fund Harvey St. (sidewalks) this year is another question," Duffy said.

At St. Gilberts and Lakeview schools, there is a two-tenths mile difference. As a result, not much of the West Trail subdivision will be walking to St. Gilberts. The exception is an area south of Mitchell to Jeffrey.

In the Manor area, an older subdivision located off Lake St., walkers would only be seventh and eighth graders. Kindergarten through sixth grade would be bused to St. Gilberts.

All of West Trail students south of Rte. 120 will walk to Lakeview and north of West Trail to Mitchell St.

Registration packets, with bus route information, will be mailed by the end of the month.

Avon ends legal battle with Geary

by JOSEPH SOULAK
Lakeland Newspapers

Avon Twp. has ended its three-year old legal battle against former Supv. Norman Geary.

The township board voted 3-2 to end further attempts to collect $12,700 Geary was said to have collected illegally. Voting against continuing the lawsuit were Supv. Russell Christian and trustees Don Bauer and Tom Donahue. Voting yes were trustees Arden Babcox and Rodney Rockenbach, who instigated the controversy in 1988 while Geary was still township supervisor.

"We were almost back at square one," Christian said of a Circuit Court decision last month rejecting the township's claim. "None of us had any idea how long this would continue. We didn't want it to go on indefinitely."

"Only one judge ruled on the case with all its merits," Christian said of a McHenry Circuit Court decision by Judge

Roland Herman more than one year ago favoring the township. Geary appealed and the case was returned to the Circuit Court for clarification. Last month Judge Michael Sullivan ruled against the township. "If these judges rejected us on technicalities, the same could happen again," Christian said.

The suit claimed Geary received the $12,700 for serving as a township trustee at meetings he also attended as township supervisor. This was done throughout his 27 years as supervisor and by his predecessor, Maurice Murrie. The salary was approved every four years prior to election for the office, which Geary said was legal. "At no time was my salary changed during my term office," he said, "which would have made it illegal." Only the last 2-1/2 years of salary were claimed because the statute of limitations had expired.

Gurnee Atty. Rudy Magna was paid

$7,000 to prosecute the case through last November. He and trustees agreed at that time the township would incur to further legal costs.

"I'll bet the township spent far more than $7,000," Geary said. "I know I did," he said about his personal legal costs. "Lawyers don't run to Woodstock or Elgin and file legal briefs or appear in court for nothing."

"It appears someone finally read and understood the judges' decisions," Geary said. "The township has been trying to prove something that never happened for three years; that I raised my salary during my term of office."

Geary called the 3-2 vote an "election year decision. Continuing this could prove politically embarrassing next spring," he said of township elections next April. The current board voted unanimously upon taking office in 1989 to prosecute Geary.

Geary noted the $7,000 in township legal fees paid Magna is more than all similar fees during his 27 years of office. Grayslake Atty. Joseph Sikes was the township attorney and member of the township board. He gave legal advice when asked. "Every so often the board pleaded with Sikes to send a bill," Geary said. "Sometimes he did, sometimes not. I don't think we spent even half of $7,000 for legal costs in my 27 years."

"The township spent all of this money on one, foolish lawsuit to politically harass and embarrass me."

Library group plans three-day book sale

The Friends of the Grayslake Area Public Library will be sponsoring a book sale next week. The book sale will be at the library, 148 Center St. July 16-18. For more information, call (708) 223-5313.

Tribune July 10, didn't make the police blotter in your paper? Thank you.

Poem of morals

You can run, you can hide, you can tell the truth or lie. You have to live with what you've done, then you'll meet your maker and He'll decide. Do the right thing while your destiny is in your own hands. You're stupid in denying, you'll get caught in all your lying. Correction is most certainly the best direction.

Happy B-day

Happy birthday to Judy. She was born 8-8-69 and she wants everybody to know that this is going to be her 23 birthday. Thank you. Bye.

Message of the day

This is Fred Farkel the Philosopher. You all know the sound of two hands clapping, what is the sound of one hand clapping? Thank you very much. Have a nice day or evening. Good-bye.

Vietnam in hospitals

Instead of renting a movie about the Vietnam War, maybe people should go to the VA hospital to visit some of our lonely veterans who have fought to keep our country alive. I have been there a few times and it breaks my heart to see those who have gone to war just wasting away in the VA Hospital. Most of them shake a lot because of their medication. Most of them wear old clothes. Many of them see few visitors. I have also seen workers who are getting paid to sleep on the job there. I have also seen human urine and feces on the floor, windows, etc. It saddens me to know that we couldn't do anything for those who have done so much for us. We are all brothers and sisters under the Lord. So why can't we take an hour or two and share a bit of time with those who deserve it the most. Make them a plate of cookies or something.

Need some competition

I have heard the expression of a one-horse town, but never of a one grocery store town. I think that it is ridiculous that a town the size of Antioch has only one large grocery store. It is so crowded that I don't even go there anymore. I go to Round Lake. After talking to friends and family about it, 100 percent wanted a Dominick's brought in.

Warning to owners

Hi. I am calling regarding car stereos. I think that every owner of a good car stereo should protect it from theft. I was a victim twice. Protection includes a good car alarm, door always locked, and pull-out type car stereos. I think that cars should be parked in the garage whenever possible. Also another step is to make sure that amplifiers are trunk-mounted and securely fastened with lock washers. Car speakers should also be bolted down whenever possible. Also serial numbers for all components should be recorded and be engraved in the components with your driver's license number. Thank you. Grayslake.

Errors not professional

Hi. I am a subscriber to the Fox Lake Press and I am appalled at the typographical and paste-up errors in each issue. I am a full time typesetter and our shop produces any where from a product label to a 1,000 page catalog. If we produced the amount of errors as this newspaper, we would be out of business in a hurry. I realize that the newspaper business could be last minute. But, really guys, this is a weekly paper. Don't you have proofreaders and typesetters that take pride in their work? You should be ashamed. By the way, I enjoy this column and thank you for letting me have my say.

The wrong way to donate

I, too, am no longer giving to United Way. But, their decision to curtail giving to the Boy Scouts has nothing to do with it. It is the stories that the executives at United Way were using the funds for their own personal life styles. Make your donations direct. Thank you.

Cycles better behave

Hi, I am from Round Lake Beach and I want to know when the police are going to do something about these kids on their crotch-rocket motorcycles burning up and down Rollins Road. I saw them doing wheelies, weaving in and out of traffic, speeding. They could have been nailed for 1,000 things.

Kids in danger of speeding cars

Hello I am calling about people driving along Maple Drive in Round Lake Beach between the elderly housing and Ellis School. Please slow down! On our street alone, there are at least 20 children under 5. And many of them ride bikes in the region. The speed limit is 15 miles per hour. I have clocked people going at least 20, 30, 35. While the parents in this area are trying hard to watch their children, remember we all have to watch out for society's children. Slow it down. Watch it. Thank you for your time.

Thanks from Queen 1991

Hi my name is Shelly Brausam and I am Miss Antioch 1991. I would like to give a special thank you to Olga Dempski, the producer of the Miss Antioch Pageant this year. She did just an excellent job.

Teachers stop crying

I'm tired of teachers and educators crying for more money. They say it is for the children, but when 70 percent goes to salaries and benefits it is obvious that it goes straight to their pocket books. Most teachers with a 10 year tenure, make over $40,000, have health benefits better than the average worker, and they get to put their retirement savings into their own pension fund instead of the bankrupt Social Security like the rest of us. Since they only work 7 and a half months out of the year, it gives them time to be politically active. Throughout the 1980's teacher's salaries have skyrocketed and education has gone down. Our children deserve more from the self-serving educational programs. Thank you.

Thanks from dog, cat and owner

Hi, I just had my dog and cat spayed. I just saw ads in your pet parade pages of your paper for this service. I would like to express my thanks to the Humane Society for help finding this service since I could not afford this on my own. In talking to the group, they explained to me that they are a small volunteering group that provides these services for the past 20 years and have been able to help over 2,000 people. I haven't seen a lot about these people in the past, but they sure are looking out for the animals. I just wanted to say thanks for the help and keep up the good work. I am from Lake Villa.

CTCA Mobile Mammogram Program

North Point Medical Dental Center, an affiliate of Cancer Treatment Centers of America® — a national leader in comprehensive cancer treatment — is a leader in cancer prevention and early detection. Our mobile mammogram program brings highly effective, low-cost mammography services to women in their own community:

Cost: Just $60, Including the Radiologist Fee

Illinois law mandates all insurance companies and HMOs to pay for mammograms for women age 35 and older. Check with your employer's insurance plan to see if the law applies to you. Please remember to bring your insurance card at the time of your mammogram.
